SENSATIONAL RESCUE

Heroic Work of Firemen
Prevents Death List From Being Larger.

New York, Sept. 30.—Seven persons are dead and ten injured as a result of a fire which swept through a five story apartment building at 241 West 109th street, in the heart of the fashionable upper west side, early today. Police believe a firebug set the blaze.

The dead are: Wilbur Penn, 45; Wilbur Penn Jr., his son, 16; William Hummel, 16; Harry Hoff, 45; Irene Hoff, 21; Flora Hoff, 18; unidentified boy, about 12.

Three firemen were injured in trying to rescue the sleeping tenants and seven tenants were burned or injured in leaping from windows. All were taken to hospitals.

According to firemen, the blaze started on the second floor and raged upwards. The tenants on the upper floors became panic stricken when smoke filled their apartments and they found escape by means of the stairways cut off. Many of them leaped from windows. Some rushed to the roof.

Firemen made many sensational rescues. Heroic rescue work prevented the death list from being much larger. One fireman, Thomas Kivens, was overcome as he was making his fifth trip from the building carrying an unconscious tenant.

One of the lads, who was killed met his death in jumping from the roof. Firemen yelled to him to wait as he would be rescued in a few minutes but he was panic stricken and jumped.

Police reported that shortly before the fire was discovered a blaze was started in the hallway of an adjoining building. That blaze was extinguished by Henry Dent, a tenant. He told police he had heard a noise in the hallway and upon opening the door, discovered the fire at the foot of the stairway. A few minutes after he had extinguished the blaze he said a stranger walked into the building and carefully examined the charred steps. When Dent spoke to him he fled.

CHANGE TIME OF MEETING OF CLASS IN HOME HYGIENE

The first meeting of the class in "Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick" under the auspices of the Greene County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held Tuesday afternoon instead of Monday.

The afternoon classes after that however will meet on Monday and Friday of each week at 2:30 o'clock. The first lesson, which will be taken up Tuesday afternoon, will be "Beds and Bedmaking," which includes instruction on how to lift and turn a patient in bed, how to change sheets, while a patient is in bed and how to move a patient from one bed to another. Demonstrations will be held of each lesson.

There have been a number of requests for an evening class in this course, according to Red Cross officials. Eight more names are necessary to assure an evening class, however, and people interested in either class are asked to call the Red Cross rooms Monday.

ARREST EXPECTED IN MYSTERY CASE

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 30.—The first arrest in the baffling double murder of the Rev. D. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer, may be made shortly, possibly today, it was learned today when it became known that the investigators searching for the slayers had unearthed a new and highly important clue. The clue, it was learned, is highly developed and concerns a man not yet mentioned in the case. His identity could not be learned.

DESTROYERS TO SAIL ON MONDAY IN NEAR EAST

Washington, Sept. 30.—In response to instructions from Rear Admiral Robert E. Coontz, the chief of naval operations, Captain Charles M. Tozer today informed the navy department that the destroyer squadron now at Hampton Roads, Va., would sail at noon on Monday for Constantinople. The exact sailing time was left to Captain Tozer's discretion.

Washington, Sept. 30.—M. C. Cananopoulos has assumed the portfolio of foreign affairs in the new Greek government, the Greek legation here was advised today.

Lion Hunt Starts In Ohio As Wild Beasts Seen

Two Kings of the Jungle Terrorize Countryside Near Mt. Victory—Nimrods Out in Search for Animals Saturday

Mt. Victory, O., Sept. 30.—As the sun came up through the haze over the hills surrounding this little town a "lion hunt" started in earnest for two of the kings of the jungle which have terrorized the countryside to the east of here since Wednesday when they were first sighted by a farmer.

The party of hunters are captained by Frank Gebhart, and only men who could qualify as expert rifle shots were permitted to take part in the hunt. Each of the nimrods was armed with a high powered rifle and the lore of those who sought the king of the beasts in his native lair was not read until a late hour last night in order to acquaint the members of the party with the habits of their unusual game.

James Black, a member of Gebhart's party, yesterday, tracked the beasts for more than a mile from the farm of A. P. Nave to the edge of the woods on the farms of Boyd Schertzer and Michael Phelps.

Villagers here believe that the wild beasts escaped from some circus playing at Kenton, Marion or some other nearby town. Doubt however is cast upon this theory because of the fact that no representatives of any circus have been here to seek the beasts.

Thus far but few persons have actually seen the lions, James Wilkerson, a farmer who is a member of today's party, was the first to sight the jungle kings, and his story was later confirmed by a party of boys who reported seeing two big shaggy "dogs."

TURKISH IRREGULARS VIOLATE NEUTRAL ZONE AND MASSACRE GREEK SOLDIERS

Athens, Sept. 30.—Turkish irregulars in Thrace (European soil) violated the neutral zone in the Istrandja district north of Constantinople, by occupying the village of Safa Ala where they massacred eleven Greek outpost soldiers, General Polymenakos, Greek commander in Thrace reported today.

The Greeks counter attacked, killing 26 Turks and driving the Turkish irregulars from the village.

This is the first severe fighting between Turks and Greeks on European soil since the near east war broke out. Hitherto the fighting has been confined to Asia Minor.

The Turks commanded by a Dervish officer, are said to be getting more and more active in eastern Thrace. Members of the Greek revolutionary committee and the provisional cabinet have decided to hold a general election for a new national assembly early in November.

The provisional cabinet has been named as follows: Premier, Saimis; foreign affairs Politis; economy, Canelopoulos; war, Charalambis; navy, Papachristos; justice, Vassilou; public instruction, Doxadi; education, Siotis; communications, Kalligas; finance, Diomidis; food, Embririkos.

The new government is badly in need of funds. The whole country is suffering from a shortage of food. Arrests of former government officials continue.

BOND RAISED FOR CULP WHO JOINS WIFE IN INDIANA

W. W. Culp, former pastor of the Spring Valley M. E. Church is walking the streets of Nappanee, Ind., Saturday, a free man temporarily for the first time since his incarceration after his elopement with Esther Hughes, village music teacher, June 14.

Culp left Xenia Friday after he had been released on $1,500 bond furnished by Charles A. Hurley, of near Bellbrook, one of his former parishioners, when he was in charge of the Spring Valley circuit and a Mrs. Kiehl, of Dayton, who is an aunt of Attorney Charles W. Folkerth, counsel for Culp, also of Dayton. Moses Spahr of near Bellbrook, who had indicated earlier that he would go on Culp's bond, failed to sign the bond.

Culp's release on bond and his subsequent departure from the city was quietly effected. His attorney appeared here Thursday night, when Culp was brought before Judge J. Carl Marshall in Juvenile court, to which court the ex-minister is being held on a charge of non-support and the papers arranged then. As soon as he gained his freedom, Culp took his departure for Nappanee where he joined his wife and nine children and immediately prepared to assume a position in a furniture factory.

"I feel like a different man," said Culp after his release for the first time since he was caught in Michigan a month after his elopement with the Hughes girl. In the interim he has seen the inside of many jails and served a month in the Dayton Work House under sentence of Judge Marshall for abandonment before he obtained his release, because of a fault committing affidavit.

After his release on the original charge under which he had been sentenced, the Ballard Auto Sales Company of Dayton, filed charges of removing mortgaged property from the county against Culp, and he was again locked up. This charge was dismissed because of lack of jurisdiction of the Dayton court, because the alleged deed was committed in Greene County, and may be filed here later. Culp, however, was immediately re-arrested for Greene County authorities on the charge of non-support. He entered a plea of not guilty Tuesday and his trial set for October 10 before Judge Marshall and his bond fixed at $1,500.

Culp will have to appear here Oct. 10, or default his bond. It is now understood that Attorney Thomas J. Hughes of Greenville, father of the girl with whom Culp eloped has been interceding in his behalf. He is said to have told officials that he forgave Culp and that "he has been punished enough."

M'GANNON CASE QUIET

Columbus, Sept. 30.—Assertion that he knows nothing of the report that plans are afoot to subject William H. McGannon, former chief justice of the Cleveland municipal court to a physical examination has been made by Warden Thomas, of the penitentiary.

Petitions are being circulated at Cleveland seeking the liberation of McGannon who is serving a penitentiary sentence following conviction of perjury. Petition signers claim his health is being impaired by his imprisonment.

LAD CRITICALLY WOUNDED

Columbus, Sept. 30.—Accidentally shot in the head, Frank McDonald 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald, Chaseland, just north of here, was taken this morning to University hospital where his condition is deemed critical. The lad with two other children were playing with a rifle when the weapon was accidentally discharged.

AMERICA WILL BE FIRMER ON DEBT QUESTION

"Policy of Frankness"
Adopted by U.S. Toward European Nations

SPOILS POVERTY PLEA

Debt Commission Considers Roumania's Plan to Issue Bonds.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The United States government has adopted a "policy of frankness" designed to bring European debtors to prompt and literal compliance with agreements by which the vast loans were negotiated, it was learned authoritatively today.

This decision to act with greater firmness is expected to shatter the poverty plea put forth by some of the debtors abroad and to spur some of the financially stronger powers to come forward with debt payment plans that conform more closely with their ability to pay.

Discovery of financial plans abroad to subordinate the American debts to other obligations growing out of wild inflation, proved disturbing today to officials of this government. Some of the smaller governments, who have profited enormously by American war credits and have yet failed to pay a nickel in interest upon them, are the prime movers in such financing projects.

Consideration was given today to the tentative plan of Roumania, a large debtor to the United States, to issue bonds for nearly $200,000,000 payment of which would take precedence over all other obligations including those of this country.

Over this phase of the debt situation members of the American debt funding commission evidenced considerable concern.

The Roumanian government's debt to this country of $41,000,000 may be collected like some of the others, only after the government wields diplomatic weapons sufficiently effective to compel payment. It developed today that Roumania has ignored formal notification sent by this government that the debt funding commission is ready to open negotiations. Persistent refusal of Roumanian authorities to engage in any discussion of the subject at this time may lead to strong representations by this government.

The question of how far the larger powers of Europe may be involved in the new financial moves of Roumania or other small powers heavily indebted to this country, is being carefully investigated by American diplomatic representatives abroad.

Rapid recuperation of many of these countries from an economic and financial standpoint, strengthens the view in Washington that arguments for unreasonable delay in working out a plan for liquidating the obligations cannot be logically justified.

At this time there is no official basis for exchange debt money from any of the foreign debtors except Great Britain in the near future. All debtors except Britain are pleading delay.

Court Decides In Favor of Poulin On Saturday

Judge Rules Haberdasher Not Father of Mrs. Tiernan's
Baby Born Last November—"Morals Shocked
By Sensational Case."

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 30.—Harry Poulin, the campus haberdasher, today was adjudged not to be the father of Mrs. Augusta Tiernan's baby born last November in the decision handed down by Judge Chester Ducomb in court.

Mrs. Tiernan, with her head bent forward to catch every word of Judge Ducomb, was slow at first to catch the import of his decision.

Then suddenly she gave a low cry and fell forward in a faint. She was carried from the court room and removed to her home.

The decision came like a thunder bolt to the Tiernans and their friends for it was clear cut.

It comprised six typewritten pages of legal paper and Judge Ducomb made it distinct that he found Poulin "not guilty" of the accusation made against him by the wife of Prof. John Tiernan, of Notre Dame University, in her confessed story of a scarlet love romance with the haberdasher.

Judge Ducomb stated, however that he believed there had been intimate relations between Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin.

The fact, however, that Prof. Tiernan had lived with his wife throughout the entire affair created the reasonable doubt that made it legally compulsory to find for the defendant the decision stated.

"This case has been given a great deal of notoriety and the testimony has been of the most sensational character and has shocked the morals of the court as well as the entire country and I regret this incident in my life that it became my painful duty and that I was compelled to give the time in the trial of a case of such a degrading nature."

DR. GRUBE RESIGNS POSITION AS CITY HEALTH COMMISSIONER; HOLDS COUNTY JOB

Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner for the last five years, tendered his resignation of that position in a letter addressed to City Manager S. O. Hale, Saturday.

The resignation is to take effect when City Manager Hale has appointed a successor, which will probably not be until after the health committee appointed by the City Commission Thursday night has had an opportunity to carry out its plans to investigate the possibilities of obtaining money for a more adequate health system.

The letter dated September 30, 1922 and addressed to the City Manager, follows: "Inasmuch as I hold the office of Health Commissioner at the pleasure of the City Manager, I would respectfully request you to relieve me from the same by naming my successor at your earliest convenience."

"In thus tendering my resignation I wish to acknowledge my appreciation and to thank you and your predecessors in office, Kenyon Riddle and Horace Zell, for the constant support and assistance given me in the performance of my duties even under the most trying circumstances."

"Yours very truly,
"R. H. GRUBE,
"Health Commissioner."

Although the resignation of Dr. Grube will not be taken until a successor has been named, according to City Manager Hale so that the City will not be without a director of health in the meantime.

Appointment of a successor will also hinge on information obtained by the committee composed of Dr. A. D. De Haven, City Manager Hale and City Solicitor J. A. Finney, at the Thursday night meeting of the commission, according to the City Manager. This committee will investigate the health department, of Shelby County and Sidney, where an adequate health system maintained at a cost of $9,000 exists, and will investigate the advantages of the system as well as the proper mode of legislation and the possibilities of money available to carry out an adequate system here.

When the city has reached a decision regarding an adequate means of health protection, the resignation of Dr. Grube will be accepted and his successor named. Dr. Grube became Health Commissioner of the city January 1, 1918, when the new commission-manager form of government became effective here.

In a statement Saturday, the Health Commissioner said he was not a candidate for the position at the time, but was urged to accept by city officials, who appealed to his town pride and civic patriotism. He said he did not want the position but accepted under those circumstances.

While he did not care to comment on his resignation, or attempt to explain the cause of his action, Dr.

Grube, indicated, however, that the city's financial condition would not permit him the assistance he should have had, that considerable more work was expected than the salary justified and that a great part of it was work he was not equipped or trained to handle and should have been taken care of by assistants appointed for that purpose.

The resignation will not affect Dr. Grube's position as Health Commissioner of Greene County, which he holds jointly with the city position, and he will not resign that position, he said Saturday. His salary as City Health Commissioner has been $500 a year, half of which was paid by the State, while he received a salary of $1,500 as County Health Commissioner, half being met by the State.

STILLMAN TO FIGHT DECISION IN CASE GIVEN BY COURT

Will Seek to Have Report of Referee Rejected—
Wants Divorce.

New York, Sept. 30.—Although the principals in the Stillman divorce case could not be reached today, it became known that James A. Stillman, millionaire banker, is planning a bitter fight to have the report of Daniel J. Gelason, the referee, which was made public yesterday rejected.

In the report the referee exonerated Mrs. Stillman of misconduct, established the legitimacy of the baby Guy, denied Mr. Stillman a divorce and said the banker was guilty of misconduct with Florence Leeds.

The findings of the referee are expected to come up for confirmation before Justice Morschauer at Poughkeepsie next Saturday. Counsel for both Mrs. Stillman and Stillman have agreed to this date. If the Stillman lawyers fail to have the report rejected, it is expected they will carry their fight to the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn. Such a step might delay final decision for a year.

The banker is so determined to secure divorce, it was reported that should he be unsuccessful in having Gleason's report set aside, he may institute divorce proceedings in Paris, where he has a residence.

PARLIAMENT MAY BE CALLED FOR NEAR EAST WAR

Cabinet Discusses Advice-ability of Calling Special Session.

ULTIMATUM IS SENT

Withdrawal of Nationalist
Troops From Neutral Zone Demanded

London, Sept. 30.—With Premier Lloyd George presiding, the cabinet met at noon today to consider the immediate summoning of parliament for discussion of the war menace in Asia Minor. Estimates of the cost of war against Turkey have been prepared and the government is ready to levy increased income taxes.

Another meeting of the cabinet was summoned for 5 o'clock this afternoon.

General Charles Harrington, British commander in the Near East has again demanded withdrawal of Mustapha Kemal Pasha's Turkish nationalist troops from the neutral zone on the Turkish straits. It was not known if a time limit was given to the Turks.

Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier of Greece and who has been appointed "general Greek ambassador abroad," following the abdication of Constantine, has arrived here from Paris. He said he would be here for some time on a "private visit" but admitted that he probably would see Lord Curzon, British secretary of state, Monday.

Venizelos, it is understood, will attempt to work out some agreement with the British regarding Greek aspirations in Thrace.

France has replied to the British communication justifying British occupation of Chanak on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles quoting Marshal Foch as saying he did not believe that the British could hold the position in the face of a concerted Turkish attack. The French suggested that the British retire across the Dardanelles into European Turkey opposite Chanak.

Despite opposition from the labor element and a section of the press the government daily continues its war preparations. The war office is prepared to issue a call to arms. Orders for munitions are being given and troop movements continue under way. The population is calm. The people went about their usual week-end holidaying with apparently no thought of a new war.

J. R. Clines, one of the foremost leaders of the labor party and a former member of the government, is vigorously protesting against the war measures. "Our ministers," said he, "are suing for peace, meanwhile indulging in proclamations indicating war. They are threatening to undertake obligations which could not be sustained by a single military effort."

Mustapha Kemal Pasha commander of the Turkish nationalists, is said to have left Smyrna. But whether he is going to Ismid or Mudania to confer with General Harrington or whether he is en route for Angora to consult with members of the national assembly, was not officially known here.

It is reported that Kemal told General Pelle, French high commissioner at Constantinople that he would not withdraw the Turks from the vicinity of Chanak where the British have created a powerful military position, garrisoned with soldiers and marines supported with artillery, a powerful war fleet and airplanes.

Kemal has brought up artillery to support the Turks.

There are persistent rumors in Constantinople that the Turks have circulated secret orders to "prepare for a conflagration in this city and to be prepared to help kill the Christians."

Denial was made at the Italian embassy that Rome is withdrawing all troops and all civilians from Constantinople. It is known, however, that all the allied civilians and probably all the allied troops but the British would depart from Constantinople immediately if an outbreak occurred.

Admiral Mark Bristol, U. S. N. has made arrangements to evacuate all Americans. Some of them already have departed.

Turkish nationalists have completed their occupation of the north-western corner of Asia Minor, taking up positions north and south of the gulf of Andramyti, are reported to have bombed Greek ships at Mitylene.

Henri Franklin-Bouillon, who went to Anatolia, on a mission of pacification representing Britain, France and Italy, has reported to the foreign office that he conferred with Kemal and is hopeful of arranging an armistice conference at Mudania.

"The Near East position is difficult but not hopeless," reported Bouillon in commenting on the possibility of averting hostilities in the Near East.

General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander at Constantinople has notified Mustapha Kemal Pasha leader of the Turkish nationalist that there can be no conference until the Turks withdraw from the neutral zone on the Turkish straits, said a Constantinople dispatch to the Evening News this afternoon. General Harrington has sent another message to Kemal warning the Turks from the neutral zone, but setting no time limit.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The United States government has adopted a "policy of frankness" designed to bring European debtors to prompt and literal compliance with agreements by which the vast loans were negotiated, it was learned authoritatively today.

This decision to act with greater firmness is expected to shatter the poverty plea put forth by some of the debtors abroad and to spur some of the financially stronger powers to come forward with debt payment plans that conform more closely with their ability to pay.

Court Decides In Favor of Poulin On Saturday

Judge Rules Haberdasher Not Father of Mrs. Tiernan's Baby Born Last November—"Morals Shocked By Sensational Case."

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 30.—Harry Poulin, the campus haberdasher, today was adjudged not to be the father of Mrs. Augusta Tiernan's baby born last November in the decision handed down by Judge Chester Ducomb in court.

Mrs. Tiernan, with her head bent forward to catch every word of Judge Ducomb, was slow at first to catch the import of his decision.

Then suddenly she gave a low cry and fell forward in a faint. She was carried from the court room and removed to her home.

The decision came like a thunder bolt to the Tiernans and their friends for it was clear cut.

It comprised six typewritten pages of legal paper and Judge Ducomb made it distinct that he found Poulin "not guilty" of the accusation made against him by the wife of Prof. John

DR. GRUBE RESIGNS POSITION AS CITY HEALTH COMMISSIONER; HOLDS COUNTY JOB

Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner for the last five years, tendered his resignation of that position in a letter addressed to City Manager S. O. Hale, Saturday.

The resignation is to take effect when City Manager Hale has appointed a successor, which will probably not be until after the health committee appointed by the City Commission Thursday night has had an opportunity to carry out its plans to investigate the possibilities of obtaining money for a more adequate health system.

The letter dated September 30, 1922, and addressed to the City Manager, follows: "Inasmuch as I hold the office of Health Commissioner at the 'Pleasure of the City Manager' I would respectfully request you to relieve me from the same by naming my successor at your earliest convenience.

"In thus tendering my resignation I wish to acknowledge my appreciation and to thank you and your predecessors in office, Kenyon Riddle and Horace Zell, for the constant support and assistance given me in the performance of my duties even under the most trying circumstances.

"Yours very truly,
"R. H. GRUBE,
"Health Commissioner."

Although the resignation of Dr. Grube will not be taken until a successor has been named, according to City Manager Hale so that the City will not be without a director of health in the meantime.

Appointment of a successor will also hinge on information obtained by the committee composed of Dr. A. D. De Haven, City Manager Hale and City Solicitor J. A. Finney at the Thursday night meeting of the commission, according to the City Manager. This committee will investigate the health department, of Shelby County and Sidney, where an adequate health system maintained at a cost of $9,000 exists, and will investigate the advantages of the system as well as the proper mode of legislation and the possibilities of money available to carry out an adequate system here.

When the city has reached a decision regarding an adequate means of health protection, the resignation of Dr. Grube will be accepted and his successor named. Dr. Grube became Health Commissioner of the city January 1, 1918, when the new commission-manager form of government became effective here.

In a statement Saturday, the Health Commissioner said he was not a candidate for the position at the time, but was urged to accept by city officials, who appealed to his town pride and civic patriotism. He said he did not want the position but accepted under those circumstances.

While he did not care to comment on his resignation, or attempt to explain the cause of his action, Dr. Grube, indicated, however, that the city's financial condition would not permit him the assistance he should have had, that considerable more work was expected than the salary justified and that a great part of it was work he was not equipped or trained to handle, and should have been taken care of by assistants appointed for that purpose.

The resignation will not affect Dr. Grube's position as Health Commissioner of Greene County, which he holds jointly with the city position, and he will not resign that position, he said Saturday. His salary as City Health Commissioner has been $500 a year, half of which was paid by the State, while he received a salary of $1,500 as County Health Commissioner, er, half being met by the State.

PARLIAMENT MAY BE CALLED FOR NEAR EAST WAR

Cabinet Discusses Adviceability of Calling Special Session.

ULTIMATUM IS SENT

Withdrawal of Nationalist Troops From Neutral Zone Demanded

London, Sept. 30.—With Premier Lloyd George presiding, the cabinet met, at noon today to consider the immediate summoning of parliament for discussion of the war menace in Asia Minor. Estimates of the cost of war against Turkey have been prepared and the government is ready to levy increased income taxes.

Another meeting of the cabinet was summoned for 5 o'clock this afternoon.

General Charles Harrington, British commander in the Near East has again demanded withdrawal of Mustapha Kemal Pasha's Turkish nationalist troops from the neutral zone on the Turkish straits. It was not known if a time limit was given to the Turks.

Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier of Greece and who has been appointed "general Greek ambassador abroad," following the abdication of Constantinople, has arrived here from Paris. He said he would be here for some time on a "private visit" but admitted that he probably would see Lord Curzon, British secretary on Monday.

Venizelos, it is understood will attempt to work out some agreement with the British regarding Greek aspirations in Thrace.

France has replied to the British communication justifying British occupation of Chanak on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles quoting Marshall Foch as saying he did not believe that the British could hold the position in the face of a concerted Turkish attack. The French suggested that the British retire across the Dardanelles into European Turkey opposite Chanak.

Despite opposition from the labor element and a section of the press the government daily continues its war preparations. The war office is prepared to issue a call to arms. Orders for munitions are being given and troop movements continue under way. The population is calm. The people wait about their usual week-end holidaying with apparently no thought of a new war.

J. R. Cline, one of the foremost leaders of the labor party and a former member of the government, is vigorously protesting against the war measures. "Our ministers," said he, "are suing for peace, meanwhile indulging in proclamations indicating war. They are threatening to undertake obligations which could not be sustained by a single military effort."

Mustapha Kemal Pasha commander of the Turkish nationalists, is said to have left Smyrna. But whether he is going to Ismid or Mudania to confer with General Harrington or whether he is en route for Angora to consult with members of the national assembly, was not officially known here.

It is reported that Kemal told General Pelle, French high commissioner at Constantinople that he would not withdraw the Turks from the vicinity of Chanak where the British have created a powerful military position, garrisoned with soldiers and marines supported with artillery, a powerful war fleet and airplanes.

Kemal has brought up artillery to support the Turks.

There are persistent rumors in Constantinople that the Turks have circulated secret orders to "prepare for a conflagration in this city and to be prepared to help kill the Christians."

Denial was made at the Italian embassy that Rome is withdrawing all troops and all civilians from Constantinople. It is known, however, that all the allied civilians and probably all the allied troops but the British would depart from Constantinople immediately if an outbreak occurred. Admiral Mark Bristol, U. S. N. has made arrangements to evacuate all Americans. Some of them already have departed.

Turkish nationalists have completed their occupation of the north-western corner of Asia Minor, taking up positions north and south of the gulf of Andramyti, are reported to have bombed Greek ships at Mitylene.

Henri Franklin-Bouillon, who went to Anatolia, on a mission of pacification representing Britain, France and Italy, has reported to the foreign office that he conferred with Kemal and is hopeful of arranging an armistice conference at Mudania.

"The Near East position is difficult but not hopeless," reported Bouillon in commenting on the possibility of averting hostilities in the Near East.

General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander at Constantinople has notified Mustapha Kemal Pasha leader of the Turkish nationalists that there can be no conference until the Turks withdraw from the neutral zone on the Turkish straits, said a Constantinople dispatch to the Evening News this afternoon. General Harrington has sent another message to Kemal warning the Turks from the neutral zone, but setting no time limit.

STILLMAN TO FIGHT DECISION IN CASE GIVEN BY COURT

Will Seek to Have Report of Referee Rejected—Wants Divorce.

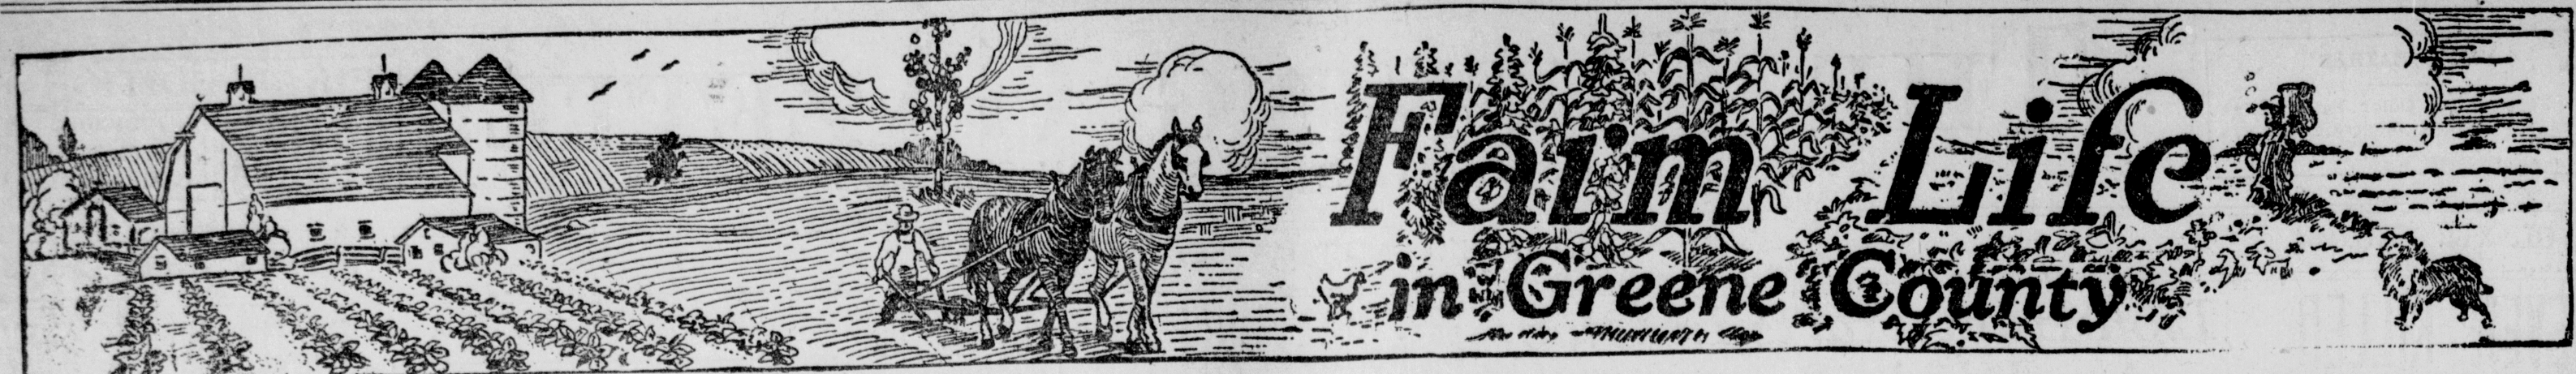

New York, Sept. 30.—Although the principals in the Stillman divorce case could not be reached today, it became known that James A. Stillman, millionaire banker, is planning a bitter fight to have the report of Daniel J. Gelason, the referee, which was made public yesterday rejected.

In the report the referee exonerated Mrs. Stillman of misconduct, established the legitimacy of the baby Guy, denied Mr. Stillman a divorce and said the banker was guilty of misconduct with Florence Leeds.

The findings of the referee are expected to come up for confirmation before Justice Morschauser at Poughkeepsie next Saturday. Counsel for both Mrs. Stillman and Stillman have agreed to this date. If the Stillman lawyers fail to have the report rejected, it is expected they will carry their fight to the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn.

Such a step might delay final decision for a year.

The banker is so determined to secure divorce, it was reported that should he be unsuccessful in having Gleason's report set aside, he may institute divorce proceedings in Paris, where he has a residence.

SAYS IT PAYS TO USE HOGS AS CORN CUTTERS ON FARMS

"A stigma which some farmers attach to the hogging down of corn is unjustified. To hog down corn is a practical and economical way of harvesting the corn crop and of feeding hogs at the same time," is the opinion of John W. Wulchert, author of a new bulletin on "Swine Feeding," soon to be distributed from the Ohio State University.

It is true, Mr. Wulchert agrees, that hogs do not harvest the corn with the same clear-cut neatness that distinguishes the work of human corn-cutters. The field may look afterwards as if a whirlwind had struck it, but "the opinion that hogging down is a wasteful or slipshod practice is not borne out in the results of feeding tests."

"Rapid and economical gains are usually made by the hogs, and satisfactory returns made on the corn thus harvested. Generally speaking, an acre of corn bearing about 60 bushels of corn will support twenty 100-pound hogs for 30 days. Tankage should be supplied in addition preferably from self-feeders, and there should be plenty of water and of salt before the swine at all times."

While in Mr. Wulchert's opinion, the advantages of hogging down outweigh any disadvantages, he lists a number of particulars in which hogging down may prove less advantageous: "1. A possible unfavorable effect on the soil under bad weather conditions; 2. A waste of some corn in wet weather; 3. The loss of stalks for feeding purposes; and 4. The partial necessity of marketing hogs at a time of year when they are usually low in price."

"A good many of the farmers of Greene County are taking advantage of this cheap method of harvesting their corn, and at present several thousand acres in Greene County are being harvested in this way," said County Agent Ford S. Prince, in speaking of the method.

TO HEAR REPORTS OF DAIRY OFFICERS

A meeting of the members of the dairy organization and the Farm Bureau of Beaver Creek township is scheduled for Monday night at seven-thirty o'clock, at Beaver Creek High School, when the reports of the officers of the dairy organization will be submitted on the business transacted by the organization during its first month of operation.

The Advisory Councilmen of the dairy organization, who are Earl Kogler and Ralph Moon, will report on the Dairy Conference held at Dayton last Saturday, when the sale of whole milk by the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers Association was discussed.

The Farm Bureau representatives present at the meeting will discuss plans for the Farmers' Institute at Beaver Creek High School, Jan. 26 and 27.

A report on the last month's business of the Bath township local cream station will be heard at a special dairy meeting to be held at the Bath High School Tuesday evening, it is announced by County Agent Ford S. Prince.

Frank Wardlaw, of Sugar Creek township, trustee of the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers' Association, will speak on the work of that organization to date, at the meeting.

Wilbur H. Ford, recently appointed county agricultural agent in Highland County, and who has had no experience in that line of work, is coming to Greene County, the first four days in October for training under Greene County Farm Bureau Agent, Ford S. Prince.

During that time Mr. Prince will coach Mr. Ford in the work over the county, and in the office routine. Mr. Ford will assume his duties in Hillsboro, October 9.

Plans for the new Ohio Multiple Unit Poultry House, which was worked out recently by E. L. Dakin and G. S. Vickers, poultry extension specialists at Ohio State University have been received at the Greene County Farm Bureau office.

The plans and specifications of the building are for a modern and up to date poultry house and with the bill of the material necessary for the construction of such a house, is included in the bulletin shortly to be published by Mr. Dakin and Mr. Vickers at Ohio State University.

Free copies of the bulletin can be obtained at the Farm Bureau office as soon as they are published and received.

GROW CLEAN APPLES ON FEW OR MANY TREES

It is possible for the owner of one or two apple trees to produce fruit as clean as that found in good commercial orchards if a simple spraying program is followed closely, say horticulturists at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

LIMING WHEAT GROUND.

Lime may be applied to the land after seeding wheat, is the word given out by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in reply to recent inquiries from farmers who were unable to secure lime before wheat sowing.

TO HARVEST CORN CROP FOR FARMER

The old saying "A friend in need is a friend indeed," will be carried out next Tuesday afternoon, when friends will gather and harvest William Ellison's crop of twenty five acres of corn.

Mr. Ellison, who resides on the Needmore road about seven miles south of Xenia, has been ill with typhoid fever for the past three months and is unable to harvest grain.

Neighbors have made plans to call a "get together" of his friends to cut the corn, and any one who feels they can spare the time will be welcomed by the Committee in charge if the weather is inclement Tuesday, all are asked to come Wednesday afternoon.

MARKET RETURNS MAY BE RECEIVED BY RADIO IN XENIA

One of the many services the Greene County Farm Bureau, under the regime of County Agent Ford S. Prince has given the farmers of the county, have been the daily market reports, from the leading stock markets of the country.

The reports have aided in keeping the farmers "up to the minute" on prices of live stock and other dairy products, and are received daily at the Farm Bureau office in the Federal Building. Complete live stock reports are received each day from Chicago, Pittsburgh and the Cincinnati stock market, by the Western Union office, in Xenia and calls are often put in over the phone at the Bureau office to Dayton for the report, from that market.

In addition to the live stock market reports, daily reports are received on the butter market from Chicago. This is to keep the dairy station managers and patrons in the county posted on the butter fat, from which the local price is set.

"The farmers are making more and more use of the market reports, in determining the proper time to sell their livestock," said County Agent Prince "the butter market price not being so subject to the fluctuations of the market since the product is perishable and must be sold, at whatever price is quoted."

The market report service is at present, handled through the Commercial News Delivery service of the Western Union. At the last meeting of the Executive Committee of the Greene County Farm Bureau, a small committee was appointed to investigate the feasibility of putting in a radio set to receive the market reports. Daily reports are broadcasted from the Ohio State University at Columbus and also from the Chicago Stock yards, and Pittsburgh stock yards, which could be picked up by the local Farm Bureau office, if a radio set was installed. The committee appointed to investigate the matter is composed of W. B. Bryson, H. W. Eavey and County Agent Prince. The committee has not yet made a complete report, but will probably do so at the next meeting of the executive committee, to be held in October.

HOME ECONOMISTS OF OHIO TO HOLD MEETING IN DAYTON

The great amount of under-nutrition that exists throughout the country is not an evidence of lack of food, but of the need for the right kinds of food, say the nutrition experts. Because of this fact, the topic of scientific feeding of the public is to be given prominence in the discussions of the Ohio Home Economics Association, which holds its first meeting of the season at Dayton on October 7. The meeting will be held in the Auditorium of the Dayton Woman's Club at 10:30 a. m., and is open to all who are interested.

"What the Trade Journals are Doing in the Interest of Nutrition," will be the subject of a talk by Mr. John Willy, editor of the "Hotel Monthly." Other phases to be discussed will be the hospital dietitian, the school lunch room, and the tea room.

At the close of the meeting, the members of the association will be guests of the Dayton Automobile Club on a trip to points of interest in the city.

For the benefit of those who wish to keep open the dates of future meetings, Mrs. Blanche Bowers, home demonstration agent of the Ohio State University for Franklin County and president of the association, announces the following schedule: Columbus, Dec. 23 and May 19; Toledo, March 3. Topics to be discussed at these meetings are as follows: "Art in Home Economics," "The Contribution of Home Economics to Child Welfare," and "The Home—Its Management and Equipment."

ADDITIONAL HONORS WON BY JUDGING TEAM OF COUNTY

The members of the Greene County Livestock Judging team, in addition to taking first honors in team judging, on Tuesday of the Ohio State Fair, won further honors in the individual stock judging contest held Wednesday of that week, according to returns received at the Farm Bureau office, it was announced by County Agent Prince Saturday.

The boys with their placings in judging the various kinds of live stock follows:

Lawrence Brown, Beaver Creek Twp.—First, on dairy cattle, 6th on hogs, 8th on beef cattle, and 10th on horses.

George Hare, Beaver Creek Twp.—Third on dairy cattle, 5th on hogs, 13th on horses.

Henry Saylor, Spring Valley Twp.—Sixth on dairy cattle, 7th on beef cattle, 7th on horses.

Bennie Beard, Jefferson Twp.—Fourth on hogs, 6th on dairy cattle.

About three hundred and fifty boys and girls entered the contest which was divided into senior and junior classes. Bennie Beard judged in the junior class, the other three boys in the senior. The boys won a total of $38 in the work.

For their part in winning the time contest, they receive a trip to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, Dec. 2-9, and will enter the judging competition at that show.

FARM BUREAU TOUR ATTRACTS WIDE ATTENTION THIS YEAR; COMES TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Over two hundred people attended the fourth annual Greene County Farm Bureau tour, staged Thursday and Friday, according to County Agent Prince. Despite the fact that the busy season and the lack of labor on the farms, interrupted with the large representation of farmers on the tour, the annual event in farm circles was marked as one of the most interesting and profitable ever held.

The visit, to a number of farms lying outside of Greene County and a stock judging contest to feature the two-day tour, the fourth annual tour attracted farmers, including many residents in other counties.

The stock judging contest featured Friday's tour, when farmers and members of their family entered the contest and won suitable prizes that will be awarded later. The winners of the contest were: Miss Josephine Mallow, first, score 916; Miss Opal Mallow, second 90.0; Mrs. T. H. Middleton, third, 85.0; A. S. Ankeney, first, 95.0; Bennie Beard, second, 93.3; F. C. Thomas, third, 91.6. Eighteen men and thirteen women judged in the contest, making a total of thirty one contestants. The classes judged were Duroc hogs, at J. Earl McClellan's farm, Angus, cattle at F. B. Turnbull's and Jerseys at C. J. Mellinger's.

In addition to the farms where livestock was inspected, the tourists visited the Ferguson and Gentner potato farm at Alpha. This farm yields over 200 bushels and is one of the finest in this section of the country. The tourist next, visited the farm of Albert Ankeney, where Shorthorn cattle was inspected. Mr. Ankeney has been in the livestock business since 1873, and has a splendid herd. He is the oldest Shorthorn breeder in the county, and is also the oldest breeder of purebred livestock in Greene County. Next year will mark his fiftieth year in the stock raising business.

At noon a picnic lunch was enjoyed by the tourists at the farm of W. B. Bryson, where they also inspected Mr. Bryson's modern farm house. From there they went to the F. B. Turnbull farm, and then to the Charles T. Stevenson farm in Cedarville township, where Herford cattle and Shropshire sheep were inspected. The tour ended at the C. J. Mellinger farm, near Yellow Springs, Jersey cattle being inspected here.

The first day's tour opened with a visit to the Ralph Oster poultry farm at Yellow Springs. Mr. Oster has about fifteen hundred white Leghorn chickens, and has an up-to-date poultry house, which was inspected by the tourists. Mr. Oster also owns a 10,000-egg hatchery, which is conducted during the hatching season. The poultry house and hatchery proved very interesting and were the subject of numerous questions being asked Mr. Oster by the tourists concerning the management of the poultry farm.

The tour next led to Antioch college where student guides led the tourists through the dormitory and then to the assembly hall where President Arthur Morgan of the school addressed the crowd. Mr. Morgan stated that his interest in the educational institution was aroused by the fact that in colleges as organized at present, the boys and girls received the theory but not the actual practice. The aim of Antioch which has been proved since Mr. Morgan's regime, is to get, through the cooperative courses, the theory of the business and the practice as well, which has been handled by the students attending college five weeks and working five weeks at their chosen profession, which they are being taught at school.

From the college the tourists went to the farm of Ralph Howell, in Clarke County, where Poland China hogs were inspected. Probably the most important point of interest the first day was the visit to the W. N. Scharff and son seed farm at New Carlisle. Here the tourists were shown a farm as highly diversified as any in the state, the tourists being shown greenhouses, a nursery, seed business, orchards, purebred livestock, dairy barn and beef cattle feeding operations. The farm in its different departments is being carried on according to the latest methods and was one of the most interesting features of the whole two-day tour. The tourists received the kindest hospitality from the Scharff family during their visit, to the farm, which contains fourteen hundred acres.

The Smith Brothers Percheron horse farm at New Carlisle, was visited next, the tourists then returning to the Howard Gerlaugh farm where Duroc Jersey hogs were inspected.

STATE WILL FURNISH TREES FOR PLANTING

Edmund Secrest, state forester, gave out the following statement today for publication:

The state forest nursery located at Chillicothe and established under the Silver Forestry law, contains several hundred thousand trees which are available for planting on the state forests, and for distribution to landowners in Ohio. The trees are of the kinds which produce the most valuable lumber and post timber, and consist of both pines and hardwoods.

Crinkly "Crushy" Silks

EVERYWHERE one looks these days, the Silks are crinkly in the extreme. And why not, when the crinkly, "crushy" effect is such an aid in artistically interpreting the mode? The ones mentioned below are only two of the important weaves.

JUDGE RE-AFFIRMS DECREE ENJOINING DEBT AMENDMENT

Columbus, Sept. 30.—Common Pleas Judge Kinkead today reaffirmed his recent decree enjoining Secretary of State Smith from placing on the November ballot the proposed debt limitation and taxation amendments to the state constitution. Judge Kinkead's ruling today was based upon argument submitted in connection with a rehearing of the suit filed by Attorney M. E. Thrallkill, Columbus, who contended successfully that there was an insufficient number of valid signatures attached to the initiative petitions filed with the secretary of the state by supporters of these proposed amendments. The court also upheld Attorney Thrallkill's claim that the synopsis prepared by the secretary of state for the taxation proposal was misleading.

Attorney General Price at whose instance the rehearing was granted, will immediately appeal on behalf of Secretary of State Smith from Judge Kinkead's decree, it was announced. Judge Kinkead will order Secretary Smith to recall the debt limitation and taxation proposals from the county election boards it was stated.

MEXICAN SOLDIERS REVOLT; SEVEN DIE

San Antonio, Sept. 30.—Seven persons were reported killed and 25 wounded when the federal garrison at Juarez across the Rio Grande from El Paso, revolted today, according to word received here by the department of justice. The commander of the troops, Gen. J. J. Mendez fled across the river to El Paso. The revolt, the report stated, was led by a captain of the garrison named Valero.

Late reports indicated that the federal troops were rallied by their officers and the rebels driven from the town. Upon regaining the town, the federal soldiers took positions on building tops, and fired into the fleeing revolutionists.

The international bridge, connecting El Paso and Juarez was crowded with spectators during the battle and a youth named Ruiz Ponter was hit by a stray bullet.

LOCAL SQUADS WITNESS TROY URBANA GAME

Scouts for Coach Earl Burgner of Central High School witnessed the 46 to 0 drubbing given Urbana High by Troy at Troy Friday afternoon.

Urbana has been having a struggle in putting a team in the field, after being without a grid team for several years, the sport having been abandoned for a time. Troy showed a versatile attack and an aggressive team.

The game was of interest here because Troy will meet Coach Burgner's proteges in the second game of the local season at the Fairgrounds gridiron next Friday afternoon.

BACK INJURED IN GAME

Miss Madeline King, operator at the Springfield-Xenia telephone exchange has been confined to her bed at her home on Chestnut Street, since Thursday morning, suffering from injuries to her back, which she received at a steak roast given by the telephone operators and linemen, of the Citizen's Exchange Wednesday night. Miss King's back was injured during a game at the picnic in which the girls were taking part.

Dr. H. C. Messenger was called following the accident and Miss King has been under care of the physician since that time. Her condition is now much improved, and it is thought she will be able to return to her work in a few days.

MORE THAN TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE ATTEND GAZETTE AND REPUBLICAN COOKING SCHOOL; CITY WELL PLEASED WITH UNDERTAKING

More than two thousand people attended The Gazette and The Republican Cooking School held four days this week at the McKinley School Auditorium, a compilation of figures made following the final session Friday afternoon showed.

Women thronged the auditorium Friday to hear the final lectures and to see the fast demonstrations which this school, which has attracted wide attention over the county offered. And the final day proved to be no disappointment to the crowds that filled every available place in the hall. In addition to the usual prizes of baskets of groceries and bags of flour donated by local merchants, a Sellers kitchen cabinet was given away by the J. A. Beatty and Son Furniture Company of this city. The cabinet went to Mrs. A. L. Richards, 425

TIE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE IMMINENT

Chicago, Sept. 30.—With the St. Louis Browns winning consistently, while the Yankees are losing, odds of the American league here today were preparing for a possible tie for the championship in the American league which would necessitate the postponing of the world series scheduled to start at New York Wednesday next.

Such a tie will be played off, according to President Dan Johnson of the American league. In a five game series, the first two games, Johnson announced, would be played at St. Louis next Tuesday and Wednesday. The two clubs would then jump to New York for the third and fourth games on Friday and Saturday. In the event each club takes two games the place for playing the fifth game would be determined by a toss up.

LEGION TO STAGE OPENING CONTEST

Whether the American Legion football team will be capable of living up to the standard set by other legions here in past years, will be determined at the Fairgrounds gridiron Sunday afternoon, when Coach George Baldwin's team will get its first action of the season with the Dayton Mascottes.

In other years the Mascottes have been the Legion team's dish and the Gem City aggregation will have to stand for a walling off if the 1922 gridiron bunch is as good as previous Legion teams. Phil Buck, one of the best plunging backfield men ever seen in action on a local oblong, will not be in the game Sunday, and whether he will be in the lineup the rest of the season is still problematical. Every effort is being made to get the big fullback out, however.

With the exception of Buck, there are no hold-outs on the Legion eleven. All of the other athletes are anxious to get back in togs and assault the visitors, while several new men have also been added to the lineup. Principal among these is Harry Walker, a backfield candidate, who formerly played with the Tigers, out of Cincinnati, and who was brought here by Martin Tullis, the big Legion lineman. Walker has been showing up well in nightly practice sessions at the Washington St. Ball Park, and fans are expecting much from him.

Paul Walker, Paul Fuller, Elmer Owens and other backfield candidates have reported and the line will find such old favorites as Tullis, the Borden brothers, Barnett, Hoag, Horren, Leahy, Thomas and other veterans, fighting for position. Cunningham, a colored boy, is a new candidate for end.

Mascotte supporters are promising the locals the toughest game of the season when the legions tangle Sunday. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Clara Phillips, wife of A. L. Phillips, Los Angeles oil promoter, is on trial there in one of the most sensational murder trials in American criminal annals—the "Stone Age" murder of July 12, of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, widowed bank clerk, whom she beat to death near Los Angeles with a hammer. Jealousy is reported to have been the motive. Mrs. Peggy Coffee, a confidant of Mrs. Phillips, was with her at the time of the murder.

SAYS IT PAYS TO USE HOGS AS CORN CUTTERS ON FARMS

"A stigma which some farmers attach to the 'hogging down' of corn is unjustified. To hog down corn is a practical and economical way of harvesting the corn crop and of feeding hogs at the same time," is the opinion of John W. Wulchert, author of a new bulletin on "Swine Feeding," soon to be distributed from the Ohio State University.

It is true, Mr. Wulchert agrees, that hogs do not harvest the corn with the same clear-cut neatness that distinguishes the work of human corn-cutters. The field may look a trifle rougher as if a whirlwind had struck it, but "the opinion that hogging down is a wasteful or slipshod practice is not borne out in the results of feeding tests."

"Rapid and economical gains are usually made by the hogs, and satisfactory returns made on the corn thus harvested. Generally speaking an acre of corn bearing about 60 bushels of corn will support twenty 100-pound hogs for 30 days. Tankage should be supplied in addition preferably from self-feeders, and there should be plenty of water and of salt before the swine at all times."

While in Mr. Wulchert's opinion, the advantages of hogging down outweigh any disadvantages, he lists a number of particulars in which hogging down may prove less advantageous: "1. A possible unfavorable effect on the soil under bad weather conditions; 2. A waste of some corn in wet weather; 3. The loss of stalks for feeding purposes; and 4. The partial necessity of marketing hogs at a time of year when they are usually low in price."

"A good many of the farmers of Greene County are taking advantage of this cheap method of harvesting their corn, and at present several thousand acres in Greene County are being harvested in this way," said County Agent Ford S. Prince, in speaking of the method.

TO HEAR REPORTS OF DAIRY OFFICERS

A meeting of the members of the dairy organization and the Farm Bureau of Beaver Creek township, is scheduled for Monday night at seven-thirty o'clock, at Beaver Creek High School, when the reports of the officers of the dairy organization will be submitted on the business transacted by the organization during its first month of operation.

The Advisory Councilmen of the dairy organization, who are Earl Koogler and Ralph Moon, will report on the Dairy Conference held at Dayton last Saturday, when the sale of whole milk by the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers Association was discussed.

The Farm Bureau representatives present, at the meeting will discuss plans for the Farmers' Institute at Beaver Creek High School, Jan. 26 and 27.

A report on the last month's business of the Bath township local cream station will be heard at a special dairy meeting to be held at the Bath High School Tuesday evening, it is announced by County Agent Ford S. Prince.

Frank Wardlow, of Sugar Creek township, trustee of the Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers Association, will speak on the work of that organization to date, at the meeting.

Wilbur H. Ford, recently appointed county agricultural agent in Highland County, and who has had no experience in that line of work, is coming to Greene County, the first four days in October for training under Greene County Farm Bureau Agent, Ford S. Prince.

During that time Mr. Prince will coach Mr. Ford in the work over the county, and in the office routine. Mr. Ford will assume his duties in Hillsboro, October 9.

Plans for the new Ohio Multiple Unit Poultry House, which was worked out recently by E. L. Dakin, and G. S. Vickers, poultry extension specialists at Ohio State University, have been received at the Greene County Farm Bureau office.

The plans and specifications of the building are for a modern and up to date poultry house and with the bill of the material necessary for the construction of such a house, is included in the bulletin shortly to be published by Mr. Dakin and Mr. Vickers at Ohio State University.

Free copies of the bulletin can be obtained at the Farm Bureau office as soon as they are published and received.

GROW CLEAN APPLES ON FEW OR MANY TREES
It is possible for the owner of one or two apple trees, to produce fruit as clean as that found in good commercial orchards if a simple spraying program is followed closely, say horticulturists at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

LIMING WHEAT GROUND.
Lime may be applied to the land after seeding wheat, is the word given out by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in reply to recent inquiries from farmers, who were unable to secure lime before wheat sowing.

TO HARVEST CORN CROP FOR FARMER

The old saying "A friend in need is a friend indeed," will be carried out next Tuesday afternoon, when friends will gather and harvest William Ellison's crop of twenty five acres of corn.

Mr. Ellison, who resides on the Needmore road about seven miles south of Xenia, has been ill with typhoid fever for the past three months and is unable to harvest grain.

Neighbors have made plans to call a "get together" of his friends to cut the corn, and any one who feels they can spare the time will be welcomed by the Committee in charge if the weather is inclement Tuesday, all are asked to come Wednesday, afternoon.

MARKET RETURNS MAY BE RECEIVED BY RADIO IN XENIA

One of the many services the Greene County Farm Bureau, under the regime of County Agent Ford S. Prince has given the farmers of the county, have been the daily market reports, from the leading stock markets of the country.

The reports have aided in keeping the farmers "up to the minute" on prices of live stock and other dairy products, and are received daily at the Farm Bureau office in the Federal Building. Complete live stock reports are received each day from Chicago, Pittsburgh and the Cincinnati office, in Xenia and calls are often put in over the phone at the Bureau office to Dayton for the report, from that market.

In addition to the live stock market reports, daily reports are received on the butter market from Chicago. This is to keep the dairy station managers and patrons in the county posted on the butter fat, from which the local price is set.

"The farmers are making more and more use of the market reports, in determining the proper time to sell their livestock," said County Agent Prince "the butter market price not being so subject to the fluctuations of the market since the product is perishable and must be sold, at whatever price is quoted."

The market report, service is at present, handled through the Commercial News Delivery service of the Western Union. At the last meeting of the Executive Committee of the Greene County Farm Bureau, a small committee was appointed to investigate the feasibility of putting in a radio set to receive the market reports. Daily reports are broadcasted from the Ohio State University at Columbus, and also from the Chicago Stock yards, and Pittsburgh stock yards, which could be picked up by the local Farm Bureau office, if a radio set was installed.

The committee appointed to investigate the matter is composed of W. B. Bryson, H. W. Eavey and County Agent Prince. The committee has not yet made a complete report, but will probably do so at the next meeting of the executive committee, to be held in October.

HOME ECONOMISTS OF OHIO TO HOLD MEETING IN DAYTON

The great amount of under-nutrition that exists throughout the country is not an evidence of lack of food, but of the need for the right kinds of food, say the nutrition experts. Because of this fact, the topic of scientific feeding of the public is to be given prominence in the discussions of the Ohio Home Economics Association, which holds its first meeting of the season at Dayton on October 7. The meeting will be held in the Auditorium of the Dayton Woman's Club at 10:30 a. m., and is open to all who are interested.

"What the Trade Journals are Doing in the Interest of Nutrition," will be the subject of a talk by Mr. John Willy, editor of the "Hotel Monthly." Other phases to be discussed will be the hospital dietitian, the school lunch room, and the tea room.

At the close of the meeting, the members of the association will be guests of the Dayton Automobile Club on a trip to points of interest in the city.

For the benefit of those who wish to keep open the dates of future meetings, Mrs. Blanche Bowers, home demonstration agent of the Ohio State University for Franklin County and president of the association, announces the following schedule: Columbus, Dec. 23 and May 19; Toledo, March 3. Topics to be discussed at these meetings are as follows: "Art in Home Economics," "The Contribution of Home Economics to Child Welfare," and "The Home—its Management and Equipment."

ADDITIONAL HONORS WON BY JUDGING TEAM OF COUNTY

The members of the Greene County Livestock Judging team, in addition to taking first honors in team judging, on Tuesday of the Ohio State Fair, won further honors in the individual stock judging contest held Wednesday of that week, according to returns received at the Farm Bureau office, it was announced by County Agent Prince Saturday.

The boys with their placings in judging the various kinds of live stock follows:

Lawrence Brown, Beaver Creek Twp.—First, on dairy cattle, 6th on hogs, 8th on beef cattle, and 10th on horses. George Hare, Beaver Creek Twp.—Third on dairy cattle, 5th on hogs, 13th on horses.

Henry Saylor, Spring Valley Twp.—Sixth on dairy cattle, 7th on beef cattle, 7th on horses.

Bennie Beard, Jefferson Twp.—Fourth on hogs, 6th on dairy cattle. About three hundred and fifty boys and girls entered the contest, which was divided into senior and junior classes. Bennie Beard judged in the junior class, the other three boys in the senior. The boys won a total of $38 in the work.

For their part in winning the time contest, they receive a trip to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, Dec. 2-9, and will enter the judging competition at that show.

FARM BUREAU TOUR ATTRACTS WIDE ATTENTION THIS YEAR; COMES TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Over two hundred people attended the fourth annual Greene County Farm Bureau tour, staged Thursday and Friday, according to County Agent Prince. Despite the fact that the busy season and the lack of labor on the farms, interrupted with the large representation of farmers on the tour, the annual event in farm circles was marked as one of the most interesting and profitable ever held.

The visit, to a number of farms lying outside of Greene County and a stock judging contest to feature the two-day tour, the fourth annual tour attracted farmers, including many residents in other counties.

The stock judging contest featured Friday's tour, when farmers and members of their family entered the contest and won suitable prizes that will be awarded later. The winners of the contest were Miss Josephine Mallow, first, score 91.6; Miss Opal Mallow, second 90.0; Mrs. T. H. Middleton, third, 85.0; A. S. Ankeney, first, 95.0; Bennie Beard, second, 93.3; F. C. Thomas, third, 91.6. Eighteen men and thirteen women judged in the contest, making a total of thirty-one contestants. The classes judged were Duroc hogs, at J. Earl McClellan's farm, Angus, cattle at F. B. Turnbull's and Jerseys at C. J. Mellinger's.

In addition to the farms where livestock was inspected, the tourists visited the Ferguson and Gentner potato farm at Alpha. This farm yields over 200 bushels and is one of the finest in this section of the country.

The tourist next, visited the farm of Albert Ankeney, where Shorthorn cattle was inspected. Mr. Ankeney has been in the livestock business since 1873, and has a splendid herd. He is the oldest Shorthorn breeder in the county, and is also the oldest breeder of purebred livestock in Greene County. Next year will mark his fiftieth year in the stock raising business.

At noon a picnic lunch was enjoyed by the tourists at the farm of W. B. Bryson, where they also inspected Mr. Bryson's modern farm house. From there they went to the F. B. Turnbull farm, and then to the Charles T. Stevenson farm in Cedarville township, where Herford cattle and Shropshire sheep were inspected. The tour ended at the C. J. Mellinger farm, near Yellow Springs, Jersey cattle being inspected here.

The first day's tour opened with a most important point of interest the first day was the visit to the W. N. Scharff and son seed farm at New Carlisle. Here the tourists were shown a farm as highly diversified as any in the state, the tourists being shown greenhouses, a nursery, seed business, orchards, purebred livestock, dairy barn and beef cattle feeding operations. The farm in its different departments is being carried on according to the latest methods and was one of the most interesting features of the whole two-day tour.

The tourists received the kindest hospitality from the Scharff family during their visit, to the farm which contains fourteen hundred acres.

The Smith Brothers Percheron horse farm at New Carlisle, was visited next, the tourists then returning to the Howard Gerlaugh farm where Duroc Jersey hogs were inspected.

STATE WILL FURNISH TREES FOR PLANTING

Edmund Secrest, state forester, gave out the following statement today for publication:

The state forest nursery located at Chillicothe and established under the Silver Forestry law, contains several hundred thousand trees which are available for planting on the state forests, and for distribution to landowners in Ohio. The trees are of the kinds which produce the most valuable lumber and post timber, and consist of both pines and hardwoods.

WATSON, OF GEORGIA.

Although Senator Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, who died Tuesday, had been a national figure for thirty years, he will leave no mark on the politics of his time and will be remembered only for his historical writings.

The beginning and the end of Watson's political career show the quality of his mind, which never changed or grew. He became notorious overnight in 1892 by charging his colleagues with drunkenness and failing to substantiate his charges. In 1922, exactly thirty years afterward, he closed his career by charging the United States Army with the habitual practice of murder, lynch-law and inhumanity.

Between these two points there lay thirty years of Jew-baiting, Know-Nothingism, populism, misrepresentation of business under the general title of "Wall Street"—anything that could arouse hatred and set fingers pointing and mouths frothing. In all his political career he never said or wrote a word or did an act that might have made the world better. But he was a past-master in the art of making men hate each other. It is hard to say these things of one just gone, but "Shall I lie about a man because he is dead?" asked Theodore Parker.

He had a dreadful genius for catching at every rag of suspicion that flew on any idle wind of gossip, and so fashioning these rags together that they became an uncanny scarecrow that seemed to have life in it. He wrote not only for the hill-billy of his own section, to whom he was a god, but for raw minds and cheap minds everywhere; and his newspaper circulated vastly even in such civilized communities as Atlanta. The cheap mind is naturally suspicious and loves to be told that there is a scandal in the White House or the Vatican or in church or synagogue or Senate. By catering to this class of mind Watson made most of his living during the years after his wholesale charges against his colleagues had retired him from Congress.

STRIKES AND THE GOVERNMENT.

Americans are no more fond of thinking difficult matters out for themselves than other people are, but now and then they have to do it. The long-drawn-out strikes of the coal miners and the railway shophmen, with the continued menace of widespread suffering and the occasional criminal outbreaks that accompanied them, have driven us all to consider very seriously what should be the national government's attitude toward deliberate interference with public services or essential industries.

It is customary to depict the general public, in such a crisis, as helpless and unorganized in the face of strong and militant organizations of both labor and capital. But what is the government but the organized general public? It is the very agency through which the needs and the purposes of that public express themselves. On more than one occasion in our history it has shown that it is not helpless to restore peace and productiveness to a disordered industry.

Theoretically, the government can take any one of four possible attitudes toward a stubborn and dangerous strike. It can keep its hands off altogether and thereby confess that it has no power to protect the body of its citizenship against injury from the quarrels of a few; it can use force to impose some sort of settlement of its own, and thereby anger, no doubt justly, one or both of the opposing parties; it can use its authority to draw employers and strikers into an agreement by which their differences are left to some kind of arbitration; or it can take over the paralyzed industries and attempt to conduct them itself until the crisis is past.

No American government is likely to be so weak as to follow the first course or so strong-handed as to attempt the second. We have progressed so far toward recognizing the responsibility of government for the way in which business shall be conducted that no President is likely to content himself with seeing merely that interstate commerce is not violently interfered with.

There should be no strikes in those industries without which the people cannot live. There should be by law methods for settling disputes within such industries that both sides would recognize as fair.

JAPAN'S RULE OF CHINESE RAILROAD TO END.

An agreement virtually has been concluded between the United States and Japan for the abolition of the international technical control of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The agreement provides the Stevens Commission shall cease to function upon completion of the evacuation of Japanese troops from Siberia. It is expected the evacuation will be accomplished by the end of October.

The Chinese Government, under the terms of the pact, will be made responsible for the continued operation and protection of the railway. It is provided a close watch shall be maintained to resume international control should the Chinese authorities prove unable to keep the railroad in efficient operation.

The other allied Powers, including Great Britain and France, are understood to be in accord with the plan. It was only after long negotiation a decision was reached. There has been considerable objection, particularly by the Japanese, to the continuation of the international commission, it being asserted control of the railway system was being monopolized by American experts. That no doubt was due to Colonel John F. Stevens, as chairman of the commission, insisting on the most efficient operation of the railway without discrimination to any of the Powers.

The control has endured since 1919, when the allied Governments, in conjunction with Russia and China, undertook supervision of the railroad to facilitate allied troop movements into Russia to keep Czech-Slovak forces from crossing Siberia.

A commercial treaty has been signed between Norway and Spain which will end all tariff questions between the two countries, thus assisting shipping and trade.

Approximately 100,000,000 pounds of copper will be utilized this year in the manufacture of automobiles in this country. This is 30,000,000 pounds more than in 1921.

FINE MOTORISTS MAY GET MONEY

Frank Davidson, secretary of the Greene County Automobile Club, has received the following letter from Paul Ackerman, secretary of the Dayton Automobile Club, relative to the roadside courts being conducted by speed cops on the Dixie Highway between Dayton and Cincinnati.

Greene County motorists may profit from the letter, which reads: "Will you through the newspapers, put in the following statement: If any motorists who were stopped on the Dixie Highway, between Dayton and Cincinnati, and who paid money to the speed cop on the road, will kindly send his receipt to me at Dayton, an effort will be made to refund his money, providing that the motorist, who was stopped did not appear in the Squire's court, and plead guilty."

"We are undertaking to stop the practice of speed cops holding road side courts, and your cooperation in the matter will be appreciated."

"Very truly yours,
"PAUL ACKERMAN,
"Secretary of the Dayton Automobile Club."

DR. LORENZ DEVISES NEW OPERATION HE ANNOUNCES

New York, Sept. 30.—Dr. Adolf Lorenz famous Austrian orthopedic surgeon, returned to this country yesterday on the United American liner Reliance to continue his charity work among cripples and to introduce a new bloodless operation which he said would relieve the sufferings of hitherto hopeless cases.

With him came his two sons, Dr. Albert Lorenz, of Vienna, and Conrad Lorenz, 19, who will become a student of medicine and surgery at Columbia University. His elder son, who conducted orthopedic operations for ten years will aid him, Dr. Lorenz said.

Concerning the new operation he hoped to demonstrate before American surgeons, Dr. Lorenz said he felt it would be his "last contribution to orthopedic surgery," but declined to reveal its nature until it had been "discussed in the medical press and before medical societies."

He would demonstrate it, and the results would be widely shown through moving pictures, he said.

DR. FESS TO ADDRESS LOCAL ROTARIANS MONDAY EVENING

Dr. S. D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, senatorial candidate, will address members of the Xenia Rotary Club and their friends at the first meeting of the fall, which will be held Monday evening at the Elks' Club at 6:30, it was announced Saturday.

The meeting, opening with a banquet, which will start the winter's work, will not be exclusively for members of the local club. In addition to friends of the members and their wives, clubs in Dayton, Washington, C. H. and Lebanon have been invited to hear Dr. Fess, and it is expected that about 100 people will be in attendance. Mrs. Fess will accompany her husband to Xenia. Dr. Fess' subject is not announced but it is expected to be along lines of national or international interest.

THE FARMER.

The farmer has more kinds of grief than any man I know; if he has pleasure, it is brief, and long-drawn is his woe. My Uncle Hiram tills the soil, he hustles day by day, and half the time his earnest toil is labor thrown away. This year he had a field of corn that grew to wondrous size, and he surveyed it every morn with gladness in his eyes. The rains arrived in timely showers, the sunshine followed then, the cornstalks grew through daylight hours, by night they grew again. My Uncle Hiram's spirits soared, he watched the green corn wave; "this fall," he said, "I can afford a haircut and a shave. The way that field is looking now, the harvest will be fat; I'll lift the mortgage from the cow, and buy my wife a hat." He thought of many things he'd do when all that corn was shucked, when it was run the sheller through, and to the market trucked. Then came a hot wind from the south, that turned bright green to gray; the corn, as in a furnace mouth, burned up and blew away. My Uncle Hiram viewed the wreck, crop gone, beyond recall; two briny tears ran down his neck, he sighed, and that was all. Oh, oftentimes this sort of crime the husbandman must view; but for laments he has no time—he has his chores to do.

EXPRESSING THE UNEXPRESSED

Every once in a while somebody steps out of the crowd of men and women and says something very much to the point—something that nearly everyone has felt at some time or other, but was too timid to express.

Emerson was a man who was unafraid under the thought of isolation. His was a mind rich in discoveries.

Stevenson says that "it is only by some bold poetry of thought that men can be strung up above the level of everyday conceptions to take a broader look upon experience or accept some higher principle of conduct."

The few recorded words of Jesus tell us in magnificent fashion of His power to "pioneer the unexpressed."

Rather than to be afraid of and repulse new ideas and new plans when they are placed before us, we should blush with shame that we didn't have the courage to champion them first. There is a responsive chord in every human being that is tuned to receive the other chords of its kind.

We are drawn to him whose sympathy of heart and understanding warms our own, and whose mind help us better to express the thoughts which we think.

But most of us are brought up under such conditions of habit, circumstance conventionality and conformity to custom, that it is only the exceptional person who is able to break through these and express himself as he thinks, in honest fashion.

A large number of human beings will away through the repression route.

Give a flower only half its requirement of sun and water and see how it is repressed in size and beauty. Nature has to open up. It has to have its full quota of room.

An understanding friend is able to make us express the unexpressed in ourselves.

CENTRAL HI OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON WITH 12-0 WIN

Bathed in the oppressive heat of a late September sun, Coach Earl W. Burgner's Central High School football team, cast a defy at the handicaps imposed by the elements, and auspiciously inaugurated the 1922 gridiron campaign at the new Fairgrounds field Friday afternoon, defeating the green-backed gridders from Greenville, 12-0.

Minus the sharp atmosphere that makes for real football weather, Friday's undue heat boiled pep and perspiration from under blue and green jerseys in the 50-minutes of almost mid-season football. Robbed of their usual vim, the athletes were also slowed by frequent and usual opening day penalties, that hindered the play most disastrously of Coach Burgner's team. The combination of circumstances robbed the locals of at least two or three more touchdowns and forced them to content themselves with a shutout victory even though it was not of imposing dimensions.

While Burgner's recruits were getting their first baptism of fire in this contest, the visitors mentored by Coach Peden, former all-Ohio material at Otterbein, were on their way to seasoned campaigners. The Darke County pigskin chasers opened their season last week with a victory but the benefit gleaned by this measure of experience was discounted after the game was under way by the quality of fighting spirit that Captain Don Currie and his mates injected into the fracas, and which kept the blue and white athletes pulling at the leash all the way.

Local fans were not disappointed in the performance of any of the lads, who represent Central High in the gridiron game this fall. The veterans of the squad lived up to the advance expectations readily. Captain Currie his brother Art Currie, "Tad" Randall, the speed merchant, Cowan at end, Bob Ballentyne, the husky tackle, Bob Yeakley at center, Horace Smith, at the other flank and "Tuffy" Fuller, at half, distinguished themselves as was their wont last year. Particularly pleasing, however, was the work of the strangers on the squad, and numbered among the brightest of these was Tom Hollencamp, whose smashing line attacks never failed of producing the necessary yardage. Others of the newcomers who deserve mention were Horner at guard and Woolary, who sparkled at guard and half-back. Greenville's attack was centered around fullback, Tillman, whose plunging was the best exhibited for his team, while Captain McEowen, played a flashy game at one flank, Minnich, calling the signals, also played well.

Statistics on the fracas show that

Xenia outplayed the visitors in every angle of the pastime. The blue and white eleven negotiated four first downs in the first half, to one made by Greenville, and four more in the second half, to one negotiated by the visitors, or a total of eight first downs, to two made by Coach Peden's gridders. Burgner's athletes attempted but two passes in the first half, and completed one successfully. In the second half the locals failed in two attempts to pass, while the visitors tried six of the aerial attacks and completed but one. Both completed passes were good for 25 yds. apiece.

Captain McEowen of Greenville won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. Captain Currie of Xenia electing to receive. Reck kicked off to Xenia's 19-yard line. Hollencamp bored in for three, and Art Currie lost four. Hollencamp picked up one, and then Randall punted to Brooks on Greenville's 30. Tillman hit the line for four and then Johnny Rush was thrown for a two yard loss. Match bored in for one and McEowen punted to Fuller. Randall picked up 14 yards around left end on the first play. Xenia was then penalized 15 yards for holding, giving the ball to Xenia on their own 15-yard line. Hollencamp picked up six off tackle, and Art Currie negotiated 8 yards around right end. A pass grounded and Randall then punted to Minnich on Greenville's 43 yard line. The visitors accepted a five-yard off side penalty and then Brooks lost three yards. Greenville was then penalized five more for another offence and Rush lost one. McEowen punted to Randall on the 30-yard line, the fleet footed half saepping off 25 yards before he was halted on the five. Hollencamp went in for two yards. The score was made 11 1-2 minutes after the game started. Art Currie missed an attempted place kick after the touch down and lost the one point that might have been gained.

Yeakley kicked off to Tillman on Greenville's 22-yard line. Brooks got three and Tillman was stopped for no gain. Rush picked up two and McEowen punted to Art Currie on Xenia's 31 yard line. Hollencamp bored in for one, and Xenia was penalized 15 yards. Randall punted to Rush. Greenville was penalized five for off side play, however and the ball was Xenia's on the 20. Hollencamp picked off seven straight in and Randall jogged around end for 10 yds and Hollencamp made it first down. Art Currie picked up four yards and Randall made it six and first down. Hollencamp got two and a pass. Art Currie to Fuller netted 25 yards. Currie then slipped around left end for nine, but Hollencamp fumbled after negotiating five yards. Minnich recovering on Greenville's 11. Tillman got four and then four more, and Brooks added three. Xenia accepting a five yard offside penalty, giving the visitors a first down. Rush added four, Minnich 3 and Brooks 2, and Tillman punted to Art Currie, who ran back 8 to Xenia's 28 yard line. Hollencamp went in for two as the half ended.

Yeakley kicked off to Brooks on Greenville's 25-yard line to start the second half. Rush added 2 and Tillman lost one. Minnich made one up first play Woolary intercepted a long pass, and it was Xenia's on the 43. A pass grounded and then Randall got two yards. Randall then punted to Brooks on Greenville's 26. A Greenville pass failed, and Woolary intercepted the next effort being downed on Greenville's 45. Gagner took Fuller's place. Xenia was penalized five for off-side play, and Hollencamp recovered nine. A pass grounded, but Hollencamp made it first down on a quarterback sneak as the game ended.

The crowd was one of the largest ever to attend a high school game here, the visitors bringing many rooters. The showing made by the blue and white squad indicates that Coach Burgner will have a real football playing aggregation. The showing the mentor has made with the green material so far, bespeaks his nights of constant effort. The lineup:

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER PARTY.

Several local people were guests at a sumptuous dinner, at which Mr. and Mrs. William Hyslop, of five miles north of Springfield, entertained Friday.

The dinner was given in honor of Mrs. Hyslop's sister, Miss Belle Crawford, of Montevia, California, who has been visiting at their home. Miss Crawford plans to return to her home the latter part of October.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lackey, and daughters, Margaret and Myrtle, of Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. James Bickett, and daughter, of near Xenia; Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Patterson, of near Xenia; Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Grieve, of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hyslop, of near Springfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bowers, of near Springfield.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS ENJOY PARTY.

The girls of the freshman class of Central High School were the guests of the senior girls at an enjoyable initiation party in the high school building Friday evening.

The affair was in the nature of a "kid" party and all were dressed in the style of kindergarten days and wore their hair down their backs. During the evening the rooms were darkened and the freshmen girls were given a rousing initiation by their upper class mates, various spooky and hair raising features being introduced. Refreshments appropriate for a "kid" party were served, all day suckers and animal crackers being part of the menu. The affair was a jolly one and was greatly enjoyed by the large number of girls present.

W. W. CLUB MEMBERS ENTERTAINED FRIDAY

Mrs. Margaret Rickett, was hostess to the members of the W. W. Club, at her home on East Main street, Friday afternoon, at the first gathering of the club members this year.

At the short business meeting held the members made plans for the work for the coming season, and later enjoyed a short program. Mrs. Rickett served a dainty refreshment course.

The guests of the afternoon included, Mrs. Charles Moore, Mrs. Thomas Randall, Mrs. Henry Buckles, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. William Horner and Mrs. Beth Moore.

GIVES CHARMING APPOINTED BRIDGE LUNCHEON.

Mrs. W. E. Eavey was hostess at a beautifully appointed bridge luncheon at her home on South Detroit street, Thursday afternoon. A delicious four course luncheon was served at one o'clock, red roses forming the decorations for the quarter tables. Roses were also given as favors. Following the luncheon cards were enjoyed. The prize of the afternoon was presented to Mrs. Charles Adair. Mrs. Chester Hinkle, of Dayton, was the only out of town guest.

DELIGHTFULLY SURPRISED AT HER HOME.

Mrs. Chame Holton, was delightfully surprised by a crowd of relatives who gathered at her home on West Market street, Wednesday afternoon. Music, a bountiful luncheon, and a genial good time featured the affair. Late in the afternoon a lovely gift, a purse was presented Mrs. Holton, with a prettily appointed speech, by Mrs. Edward Smith, with the compliments of the guests of the afternoon.

AUXILIARY WILL MEET ON MONDAY.

The Second Auxiliary of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, October 2nd, at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. C. D. Purdon, 447 North Galloway street. All members urged to be present.

Obedient Council, No. 160, Daughters of America, Thimble Club, will meet at the home of Mrs. Lee Ledbetter, on Hill street, Thursday afternoon, October 4. The club will be entertained by Mrs. Ray McElfresh, and Mrs. Ledbetter. All members are requested to be present, and bring their pieces for quilt patches.

T. D. Kyle, of this city, attended a meeting of the board of directors of Muskingum College held in Steubenville this week.

Miss Cora McKay, of Albany, N. Y., who had been the guest for several days of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. Milton McKay went to Johnstown, Friday, where she will visit before returning to Albany.

The condition of Mrs. L. H. Whitman, who is seriously ill at her home on the Fairground road, continues unimproved.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Van Zant and family, of New Castle, Ind., will spend Sunday in this city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ward M. Huston of West Church street. They will make the trip by motor.

JUDGE RE-AFFIRMS DECREE ENJOINING DEBT AMENDMENT

Columbus, Sept. 30.—Common Pleas Judge Kinkead today reaffirmed his recent decree enjoining Secretary of State Smith from placing on the November ballot the proposed debt limitation and taxation amendments to the state constitution. Judge Kinkead's ruling today was based upon argument submitted in connection with a rehearing of the suit filed by Attorney M. E. Thraikill, Columbus, who contended successfully that there was an insufficient number of valid signatures attached to the initiative petitions filed with the secretary of the state by supporters of these proposed amendments. The court also upheld Attorney Thraikill's claim that the synopsis prepared by the secretary of state for the taxation proposal was misleading.

Attorney General Price at whose instance the rehearing was granted, will immediately appeal on behalf of Secretary of State Smith from Judge Kinkead's decree, it was announced. Judge Kinkead will order Secretary Smith to recall the debt limitation and taxation proposals from the county election boards it was stated.

MEXICAN SOLDIERS REVOLT; SEVEN DIE

San Antonio, Sept. 30.—Seven persons were reported killed and 25 wounded when the federal garrison at Juarez across the Rio Grande from El Paso, revolted today, according to word received here by the department of justice. The commander of the troops, Gen. J. J. Mendez fled across the river to El Paso. The revolt, the report stated, was led by a captain of the garrison named Valero.

Late reports indicated that the federal troops were rallied by their officers and the rebels driven from the town. Upon regaining the town, the federal soldiers took positions on buildings and fired into the fleeing revolutionaries.

The International bridge, connecting El Paso and Juarez was crowded with spectators during the battle and a youth named Ruiz Ponter was hit by a stray bullet.

LOCAL SCOUTS WITNESS TROY URBANA GAME

Scouts for Coach Earl Burgner of Central High School witnessed the 46 to 0 drubbing given Urbana High by Troy at Troy Friday afternoon. Urbana has been having a struggle in putting a team in the field, after being without a grid team for several years, the sport having been abandoned for a time. Troy showed a versatile attack and an aggressive team.

The game was of interest here because Troy will meet Coach Burgner's proteges in the second game of the local season at the Fairgrounds gridiron next Friday afternoon.

BACK INJURED IN GAME

Miss Madeline King, operator at the Springfield-Xenia telephone exchange has been confined to her bed at her home on Chestnut street, since Thursday morning, suffering from injuries to her back, which she received at a steak roast given by the telephone operators and linemen, of the Citizens Exchange Wednesday night. Miss King's back was injured during a game at the picnic in which the girls were taking part.

Dr. H. C. Messenger was called following the accident and Miss King has been under care of the physician since that time. Her condition is now much improved, and it is thought she will be able to return to her work in a few days.

MORE THAN TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE ATTEND GAZETTE AND REPUBLICAN COOKING SCHOOL; CITY WELL PLEASED WITH UNDERTAKING

More than two thousand people attended The Gazette and The Republican Cooking School held four days this week at the McKinley School Auditorium. A compilation of figures made following the final session Friday afternoon showed.

Women thronged the auditorium Friday to hear the final lectures and to see the last demonstrations which this school, which has attracted wide attention over the county offered. And the final day proved to be no disappointment to the crowds that filled every available place in the hall. In addition to the usual prizes of baskets of groceries and bags of flour donated by local merchants, a Sellers kitchen cabinet was given away by the J. A. Beatty and Son Furniture Company of this city. The cabinet went to Mrs. A. L. Richards, 425

TIE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE IMMINENT

Chicago, Sept. 30.—With the St. Louis Browns winning consistently, while the Yankees are losing, moguls of the American league here today were preparing for a possible tie for the championship in the American league which would necessitate the postponing of the world series scheduled to start at New York Wednesday next.

Such a tie will be played off, according to President Ban Johnson of the American league. In a five game series, The first two games, Johnson announced, would be played at St. Louis next Tuesday and Wednesday. The two clubs would then jump to New York for the third and fourth games on Friday and Saturday. In the event each club takes two games the place for playing the fifth game would be determined by a toss up.

LEGION TO STAGE OPENING CONTEST

Whether the American Legion football team will be capable of living up to the standard set by other eleven here in past years, will be determined at the Fairgrounds gridiron Sunday afternoon, when Coach George Baldwin's team will get its first action of the season with the Dayton Mascottes.

In other years the Mascottes have been the Legion team's dish and the Gem City aggregation will have to stand for a walloping if the 1922 gridiron bunch is as good as previous Legion teams. Phil Buck, one of the best plunging backfield men ever seen in action on a local oblong, will not be in the game Sunday, and whether he will be in the lineup the rest of the season is still problematical. Every effort is being made to get the big fullback out, however.

With the exception of Buck, there are no hold-outs on the Legion eleven. All of the other athletes are anxious to get back in togs and assault the visitors, while several new men have also been added to the lineup. Principal among these is Harry Walker, a backfield candidate, who formerly played with the Tigers, out of Cincinnati, and who was brought here by Martin Tullis, the big Legion lineman. Walker has been showing up well in nightly practice sessions at the Washington St. Ball Park and fans are expecting much from him. Paul Walker, Paul Fuller, Elmer Owens and other backfield candidates have reported and the line will find such old favorites as Tullis, the Borden brothers, Barnett, Hong, Horner, Leahy, Thomas and other veterans, fighting for position. Cunningham, a colored boy, is a new candidate for end.

Mascotte supporters are promising the locals the toughest game of the season when the eleven tangle Sunday. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

WATSON, OF GEORGIA.

Although Senator Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, who died Tuesday, had been a national figure for thirty years, he will leave no mark on the politics of his time and will be remembered only for his historical writings.

The beginning and the end of Watson's political career show the quality of his mind, which never changed or grew. He became notorious overnight in 1892 by charging his colleagues with drunkenness and failing to substantiate his charges. In 1922, exactly thirty years afterward, he closed his career by charging the United States Army with the habitual practice of murder, lynch-law and inhumanity.

Between these two points there lay thirty years of Jew-baiting, Know-Nothingism, populism, misrepresentation of business under the general title of "Wall Street"—anything that could arouse hatred and set fingers pointing and mouths frothing. In all his political career he never said or wrote a word or did an act that might have made the world better. But he was a past-master in the art of making men hate each other. It is hard to say these things of one just gone, but "Shall I lie about a man because he is dead?" asked Theodore Parker.

He had a dreadful genius for catching at every rag of suspicion that flew on any idle wind of gossip, and so fashioning these rags together that they became an uncanny scarecrow that seemed to have life in it. He wrote not only for the hill-billy of his own section, to whom he was a god, but for raw minds and cheap minds everywhere; and his newspaper circulated vastly even in such civilized communities as Atlanta. The cheap mind is naturally suspicious and loves to be told that there is a scandal in the White House or the Vatican or in church or synagogue or Senate. By catering to this class of mind Watson made most of his living during the years after his wholesale charges against his colleagues had retired him from Congress.

STRIKES AND THE GOVERNMENT.

Americans are no more fond of thinking difficult matters out for themselves than other people are, but now and then they have to do it. The long-drawn-out strikes of the coal miners and the railway shopmen, with the continued menace of widespread suffering and the occasional criminal outbreaks that accompanied them, have driven us all to consider very seriously what should be the national government's attitude toward deliberate interference with public services or essential industries.

It is customary to depict the general public, in such a crisis, as helpless and unorganized in the face of strong and militant organizations of both labor and capital. But what is the government but the organized general public? It is the very agency through which the needs and the purposes of that public express themselves. On more than one occasion in our history it has shown that it is not helpless to restore peace and productiveness to a disordered industry.

Theoretically, the government can take any one of four possible attitudes toward a stubborn and dangerous strike. It can keep its hands off altogether and thereby confess that it has no power to protect the body of its citizenship against injury from the quarrels of a few; it can use force to impose some sort of settlement of its own, and thereby anger, no doubt justly, one or both of the opposing parties; it can use its authority to draw employers and strikers into an agreement by which their differences are left to some kind of arbitration; or it can take over the paralyzed industries and attempt to conduct them itself until the crisis is past.

No American government is likely to be so weak as to follow the first course or so strong-handed as to attempt the second. We have progressed so far toward recognizing the responsibility of government for the way in which business shall be conducted that no President is likely to content himself with seeing merely that interstate commerce is not violently interfered with.

There should be no strikes in those industries without which the people cannot live. There should be by law methods for settling disputes within such industries that both sides would recognize as fair.

JAPAN'S RULE OF CHINESE RAILROAD TO END.

An agreement virtually has been concluded between the United States and Japan for the abolition of the international technical control of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The agreement provides the Stevens Commission shall cease to function upon completion of the evacuation of Japanese troops from Siberia. It is expected the evacuation will be accomplished by the end of October.

The Chinese Government, under the terms of the pact, will be made responsible for the continued operation and protection of the railway. It is provided a close watch shall be maintained to resume international control should the Chinese authorities prove unable to keep the railroad in efficient operation.

The other allied Powers, including Great Britain and France, are understood to be in accord with the plan. It was only after long negotiation a decision was reached. There has been considerable objection, particularly by the Japanese, to the continuation of the international commission, it being asserted control of the railway system was being monopolized by American experts.

That no doubt was due to Colonel John F. Stevens, as chairman of the commission, insisting on the most efficient operation of the railway without discrimination to any of the Powers.

The control has endured since 1919, when the allied Governments, in conjunction with Russia and China, undertook supervision of the railroad to facilitate allied troop movements into Russia to keep Czecho-Slovak forces from crossing Siberia.

A commercial treaty has been signed between Norway and Spain which will end all tariff questions between the two countries, thus assisting shipping and trade.

Approximately 100,000,000 pounds of copper will be utilized this year in the manufacture of automobiles in this country. This is 30,000,000 pounds more than in 1921.

That professional women in New York City are coming to the foreground is shown by the fact that one out of every 19 physicians and every 44 lawyers are of that sex.

Real estate operators in Cleveland, Ohio, are building what is believed to be the largest apartment house in the world, the building and land costing approximately $30,000,000.

FINED MOTORISTS MAY GET MONEY

Frank Davidson, secretary of the Greene County Automobile Club, has received the following letter from Paul Ackerman, secretary of the Dayton Automobile Club, relative to the roadside courts being conducted by speed cops on the Dixie Highway between Dayton and Cincinnati.

Greene County motorists may profit from the letter, which reads: "Will you through the newspapers, put in the following statement: If any motorists who were stopped on the Dixie Highway, between Dayton and Cincinnati, and who paid money to the speed cop on the road, will kindly send his receipt to me at Dayton, an effort will be made to refund his money, providing that the motorist, who was stopped did not appear in the Squire's court, and plead guilty. "We are undertaking to stop the practice of speed cops holding road side courts, and your cooperation in the matter will be appreciated."

"Very truly yours,
"PAUL ACKERMAN,
"Secretary of the Dayton Automobile Club."

DR. LORENZ DEVISES NEW OPERATION HE ANNOUNCES

New York, Sept. 30.—Dr. Adolf Lorenz famous Austrian orthopedic surgeon, returned to this country yesterday on the United American liner Reliance to continue his charity work among cripples and to introduce a new bloodless operation which he said would relieve the sufferings of hitherto hopeless cases.

With him came his two sons, Dr. Albert Lorenz, of Vienna, and Conrad Lorenz, 19, who will become a student of medicine and surgery at Columbia University. His elder son, who conducted orthopedic operations for ten years will aid him, Dr. Lorenz said.

Concerning the new operation he hoped to demonstrate before American surgeons, Dr. Lorenz said he felt it would be his "last contribution to orthopedic surgery," but declined to reveal its nature until it had been "discussed in the medical press and before medical societies."

He would demonstrate it, and the results would be widely shown through moving pictures, he said.

THE FARMER.

The farmer has more kinds of grief than any man I know; if he has pleasure, it is brief, and long-drawn is his woe. My Uncle Hiram tills the soil, he hustles day by day, and half the time his earnest toil is labor thrown away. This year he had a field of corn that grew to wondrous size, and he surveyed it every morn with gladness in his eyes. The rains arrived in timely showers, the sunshine followed then, the cornstalks grew through daylight hours, by night they grew again. My Uncle Hiram's spirits soared, he watched the green corn wave; "this fall," he said, "I can afford a haircut and a shave. The way that field is looking now, the harvest will be fat; I'll lift the mortgage from the cow, and buy my wife a hat." He thought of many things he'd do when all that corn was shucked, when it was run the sheller through, and to the market trucked. Then came a hot wind from the south, that turned bright green to gray; the corn, as in a furnace mouth, burned up and blew away. My Uncle Hiram viewed the wreck, crop gone, beyond recall; two briny tears ran down his neck, he sighed, and that was all. Oh, oftentimes this sort of crime the husbandman must view; but for laments he has no time—he has his chores to do.

EXPRESSING THE UNEXPRESSED

Every once in a while somebody steps out of the crowd of men and women and says something very much to the point—something that nearly everyone has felt at some time or other, but was too timid to express.

Emerson was a man who was unafraid under the thought of isolation. His was a mind rich in discoveries.

Stevenson says that "it is only by some bold poetry of thought that men can be strung up above the level of everyday conceptions to take a broader look upon experience or accept some higher principle of conduct."

The few recorded words of Jesus tell us in magnificent fashion of His power to "pioneer the unexpressed."

Rather than to be afraid of and repulse, new ideas and new plans when they are placed before us, we should blush with shame that we didn't have the courage to champion them first. There is a responsive chord in every human being that is tuned to receive the other chords of its kind.

We are drawn to him whose sympathy of heart and understanding warms our own, and whose mind help us better to express the thoughts which we think.

But most of us are brought up under such conditions of habit, circumstance conventionality and conformity to custom, that it is only the exceptional person who is able to break through these and express himself as he thinks, in honest fashion.

A large number of human beings wilt away through the repression route.

Give a flower only half its requirement of sun and water and see how it is repressed in size and beauty. Nature has to open up. It has to have its full quota of room.

An understanding friend is able to make us express the unexpressed in ourselves.

HELPFUL CONTRIBUTIONS FROM READERS

These splendid letters have come in to me containing directions which other Column Readers have requested:

Mrs. B. C. C.: "I saw in your column, some time ago, a request for the following: Ruche for a Lady's Bedroom Slipper: Cast on nine stitches. Two rows plain. Third Row: Knit one, wind wool round finger and needle three times, knit as one stitch, knit one plain between each spot; four spots on row. Three rows of spots of dark and light alternately, till you have six stripes of each. Sew ruche to slipper."

Mrs. J. C. H.: "Here are my directions for Rose Beads: Put through a food chopper (using the nut grinder) four quarts of rose petals and a broken up piece of copersas the size of a large pea; put this through nine times, when it should be a pulpy mass, almost like butter and dark-colored. Now add to it a few drops of glycerin, to harden. Take a lump of this paste just twice the size you want the finished bead to be, and roll it in the palms of your hands till round. Half this bulk is allowed for shrinkage in drying. Place these little balls on plates to dry overnight; in the morning roll them again—this time on a plate, to obtain a perfectly smooth surface. The longer they are rolled this second time, the better the result, as it makes them shrink evenly. When finished rolling, insert a toothpick in each, to form the eye of the bead, then stick the toothpicks upright in something with the beads upon them. Before removing the beads let them dry thoroughly. Then string them on a thread, put in a small bag to rub and polish. When polished, let them stand in olive oil over night and in the morning polish again. Restring and wear."

Mrs. G.: "Here are the directions for Rose Beads: Put rose leaves through the meat grinder several times morning and afternoon, and let them lie in an iron vessel between grindings, to make them turn black—which nothing but iron will do. After many days of this treatment they will become a firm paste, like dough, and can then be moulded into beads, as follows: Have ready a clean board about one foot square, and plenty of pins. Break off a bit of the paste the size you want for a bead, and roll it in the palms of your hands till it is round. Stick a pin through it and run the pin into the board, taking care the head does not touch the board and so flatten and spoil its shape. Leave the bead on the pin till dry. If you soak, Mrs. Timmons, Mrs. L. H. Hart-wish to polish them, take a tiny bit of petrolatum in the palms of the hands and rub the hands together until only a suspicion of the grease shows. Now take a bead from one of the pins and roll it between your palms until every particle of petrolatum has disappeared. If you wish a dull finish, however, leave the beads just as they are when taken from the pins. These beads are pretty when strung together with small gold, silver, or jet beads. Many women make rose beads from the roses in their bridal bouquets, while others make beads of flowers given them on their wedding anniversaries or birthdays."

DR. FESS TO ADDRESS LOCAL ROTARIANS MONDAY EVENING

Dr. S. D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, senatorial candidate, will address members of the Xenia Rotary Club and their friends at the first meeting of the fall, which will be held Monday evening at the Elks' Club at 6:30, it was announced Saturday.

The meeting, opening with a banquet, which will start the winter's work, will not be exclusively for members of the local club. In addition to friends of the members and their wives, clubs in Dayton, Washington, C. H. and Lebanon have been invited to hear Dr. Fess, and it is expected that about 100 people will be in attendance. Mrs. Fess will accompany her husband to Xenia. Dr. Fess' subject is not announced but it is expected to be along lines of national or international interest.

MRS. V. W. OGLESBEE FOUND DEAD EARLY SATURDAY AT HOME

Suffering from an acute form of melancholia, and depressed because she thought her illness incurable, Mrs. Lucy May Waltz Oglesbee, 50, shot, and killed herself with an old revolver at her home on Hill Street Saturday morning at 7 o'clock, just after her husband Volch W. Oglesbee, owner of the Oglesbee Bottling and Candy factory had left for his office.

Mrs. Oglesbee had been ill for a number of weeks. Thinking her ailment incurable, she thought to have brought on melancholia, which prompted her act Saturday morning. At the time the shot was fired, Mrs. Oglesbee's two daughters May and Margaret were busy in the kitchen of their home. The revolver Mrs. Oglesbee used was an old one, members of her family having forgotten it was in the house. The bullet entered the right temple. Mrs. Oglesbee lived only a few minutes after the shot was fired.

Mrs. Oglesbee was born in Muncie, Ind., May 2, 1872, the daughter of George and Lavina Waltz. Her marriage to Volch W. Oglesbee of this city, took place August 2, 1893. Besides her husband, two adopted daughters, Margaret and May, and one brother, Charles Waltz of Connorsville, Ind., survive. She had made her home in Xenia ever since her marriage and was a member of the First M. E. Church.

Funeral services will be held from the late home, Monday morning at ten o'clock, with interment at Woodland Cemetery.

SAY LOSS TO BANK IN ROBBERY $50,000

Cincinnati, Sept. 29.—Officials of the Hamilton county bank which was held up and robbed on Thursday by five unmasked bandits, said today that the loss was greater than at first estimated and would exceed $50,000. They denied reports that the spoils taken by the robbers amounted to as much as $100,000. The police are practically without clues in the case, the bandits having made clean getaway. A reward of $7,500 has been offered for information leading to their arrest and the return of the cash and bonds stolen.

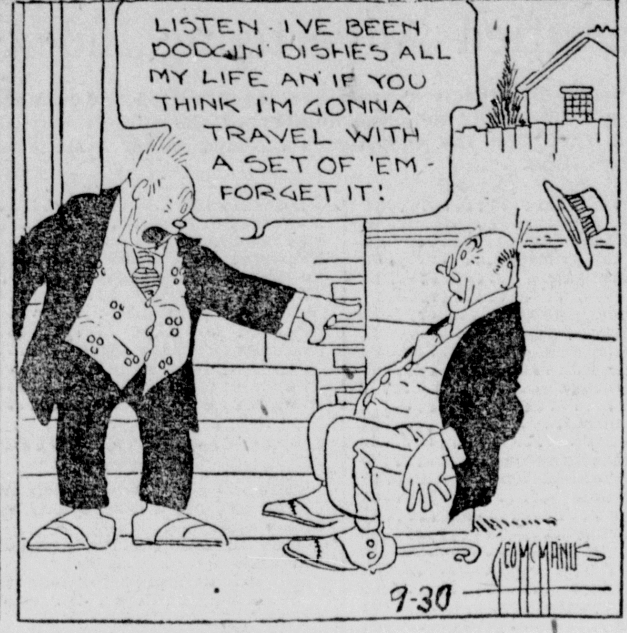

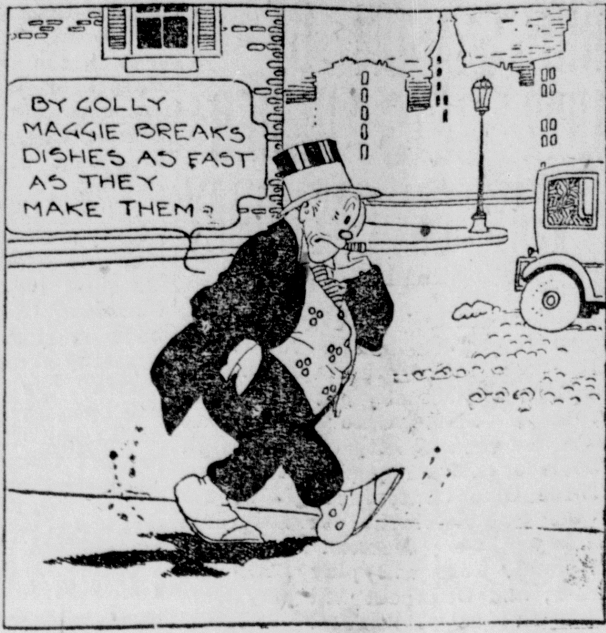

ZIMMERMAN

Mrs. Ruey Snyder, of Columbus, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. George Williamson at Shoups Station, for several weeks.

Mrs. A. L. Parker, of Cambridge, Nebraska, is spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Stewart and family.

Miss Evelyn McCray became the bride of Crawford Coy, Saturday afternoon, September 23. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Eldermiller at his home near New Carlisle. The bride's sister, Miss Hazel McCray and Mr. Russell Moler were the attendants. The bride wore for her marriage a suit of brown with hat and satin slippers to match. A reception was given in the evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCray, at Belmont. A four course supper was served, the last course being ice cream and a beautiful wedding cake. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Coy, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coy and baby, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Newton Coy, parents of the groom, and Miss Dorothy Coy; Mrs. Ed Helmer, Mr. David Archer, Miss Osce Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCray, Miss Mary and Mr. Carl McCray. On their return from their honeymoon trip to Indian Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Coy will be at home to their many friends at the home which they have already furnished in Belmont. A host of friends join in wishing all happiness and prosperity to this excellent and popular young couple. The groom is an industrious and successful farmer and a graduate of Beaver Creek High

SIXTEEN POUNDS OF BACON FOR EIGHTY CENTS BUT THAT WAS BACK IN 1830

"Those days are gone forever!" Such would be the sigh of the present generation who daily plaint of the high cost of "household necessities," with a glimpse into the moldy, yellowed time-worn copy of a day book of a Xenia general store keeper dated 1830, ninety two years old.

Little was thought in those days by ancestors of the present citizens of Xenia of going into the general store and calmly securing a half gallon of whiskey for 18 and three fourth cents, the same customer getting with his order a pound of coffee for the same price.

The book containing the names of many familiar families in the city's history, was found by Frank McCurran, local contractor, in the attic of a house, owned by the heirs of William Rhodes on West Second street recently.

"October 1830, sundry trimmings, $1.50 and one fourth cents," is an example of the prices paid in the date of the book.

Equally interesting with the names of the purchasers and the low prices paid for some articles, are the prices that rival those paid today. For instance, the same customer that paid seventy five cents for a quart of fine sherry wine, also paid sixty cents for a pound of sugar. Balancing the high cost of some goods is the price of an article, sixteen pounds of bacon for eighty cents.

Robert M. Black, one of the customers of the store, was one of the early inhabitants taking advantage of the Low Cost of Living when he bought a barrel of salt, for four dollars and a half cent. Practically all of the goods of the store were sold in quantities with a price reaching to the fraction of a cent, which was carried through the bill to the total.

Nancy Martin, probably a flapper of the 30's won the fond glances of a youthful swain with a new shawl for which she paid two dollars and twenty five cents, while Margaret White, another belle of the early days, paid five dollars for "one cloak." Katharine Gatrill, made a new gown from five and a half yards of calico for which she paid one dollar and thirty seven and a half cents, or twenty five cents a yard.

Another bill reads: "James C. Carey, to one pair gum elastic shoes, one dollar and thirty seven and a half cents."

The little general store business keeping sundry articles also dealt in loans, as shown by the item "Ebenzer Heaton, to cash loaned him $4.50," followed by a similar notation, "Caleb West, to cash loaned him $20." George M. Smith is listed among the jolly good fellows who purchased a pound of nails at ten cents, a fourth of a pound of Young Hyson tea, at thirty one and a fourth cents, and a half gallon of whiskey at twelve and a half cents.

Education was not neglected in those days, and when stumped on a certain word, Hugh McMillin went to "the store" and bought a dictionary for three dollars.

James Adair laid up his private stock on time, evidenced by the note, "James Adair, to balance, whiskey per bill, $3.25."

Housewives, who are at present canning peaches, and who mourn the price of two dollars per bushel, may find an interesting item in that H. Brinkerhoff paid seventy-five cents for a bushel of the fruit.

Styles BY LENORE

Notwithstanding the earlier predictions of a return to the normal waistline, all the fashions shown this season indicate that the long waistline continues to hold the popular favor. That is, where a waistline is noted at all, but many of the gowns for evening ignore all suggestions of a waistline, except as to subtle, sinuous draperies which closely follow the natural lines of the figure.

Where a slip is worn at all, therefore, the type that is shown in Paris is shown in the sketch today. The waist is very long, the skirt extremely narrow, and straps are made adjustable, so that plain ribbon, beaded or rhinestone supports may be used, depending on the dress with which it is worn. This slip is made of white crepe de chine, with hand-stitched lace inserts.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial." — Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

NELLIE TALKS WITH MRS. ROBERTS

Chapter 84

Nellie argued with herself, told herself that all her little social blunders, her mistakes meant nothing—as Cora had assured her. But the uneasiness would not down, and now it amounted almost to unhappiness.

A theater party at which she caused confusion by taking too long to decide where they would have supper—George had asked her to try to leave the box. One or two little crude actions at supper, had sent her home in the lowest of spirits.

As she considered her case it was not a pleasant consideration.

Because she loved George Fallon she had impulsively promised to marry him without giving consideration to facts and consequences. She wished she had made him wait longer; taken more time to fit herself to be his wife. Perhaps in time she would have been able to learn all these little graceful ways in which she now was so lacking. She had noticed George flush as he stammered over her decision of where to dine. It had been like a whip on raw flesh. If he flushed for her now, what would he feel, when as hostess, she made blunders? If only she were like Miss Dorothy!

That started another train of thought. She had spoken of his cousin as "Miss Dorothy" to George. He had been annoyed and plainly showed it.

"Do call her Dorothy, or Miss Fallon," he said. "It is not necessary now that you use that mode of speaking to people."

Nellie was bright enough to know he referred to the difference her engagement to him made in the way she should talk to his friends; that "Miss Dorothy" smacked of servility of the office.

He had said it kindly, yet she had known he was annoyed with her. It worried her to such an extent she spoke to Mrs. Roberts of it. She said a trifle bitterly, although she laughed:

"I guess once a slavey, one never quite gets over some things. I would not have dreamed of calling her anything but 'Miss Dorothy' when I was in the office; would probably be called down if I had. It seems I'll never learn to be a lady." Then: "In a horrid ungrateful girl to talk so when you and everyone are so kind."

"Don't feel that you can't talk over your worries with me, dear. Sometimes it helps. As far as that one incident goes, it is trifling; yet, of course, Mr. Fallon is right. His cousin is a little older than you are and should not be addressed as if she were a young Miss, younger than yourself. Don't feel annoyed. You are learning all the time."

"But it is so humiliating to have to learn in such a way. To be corrected by him, I wouldn't care if it was you—but to have him seem ashamed, it is almost more than I can bear."

"Poor child," Mrs. Roberts soliloquized when alone. "She will make them both unhappy if she isn't careful. I am afraid for her. I wish she had more confidence in herself. It is meeting those society women, women of the world, that has made her lose that confidence. She is constantly comparing herself to them without making any allowances for herself—without considering her bringing up."

Nellie had lost some of her bright color in these last weeks, and her face held a certain tension, which indicated nervous strain and apprehension. Donald Horne had noticed and had sought Mrs. Roberts where she was alone.

"Nellie isn't happy, Mrs. Roberts," he said. "Why?"

"I think you are wrong, Donald. The child isn't unhappy. She is worrying a bit for fear she will not measure up to standard in her new life. She is rather frightened because of Mr. Fallon's social position, a bit afraid of his friends."

"One has fancies," he answered, "and I—you know how it is—we can't always be quite sensible."

"I know, Donald. But we must put fancies out of our heads now," Mrs. Roberts knew the young fellow loved Nellie, knew that was what he meant by his stammering speech. "We must do all we can to make her happy for the few days she remains with us." "I'd give my life to make her happy always!" he blurted out, then rushed from the room before she could answer.

"I wonder—" she whispered.

CENTRAL HI OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON WITH 12-0 WIN

Bathed in the oppressive heat of a late September sun, Coach Earl W. Burgner's Central High School football team, cast a defy at the handicaps imposed by the elements, and auspiciously inaugurated the 1922 gridiron campaign at the new Fairgrounds field Friday afternoon, defeating the green-backed gridders from Greenville, 12-0.

Minus the sharp atmosphere that makes for real football weather, Friday's undue heat boiled pep and perspiration from under blue and green jerseys in the 50-minutes of almost mid-season football. Robbed of their usual vim, the athletes were also slowed by frequent and usual opening day penalties, that hindered the play most disastrously of Coach Burgner's team. The combination of circumstances robbed the locals of at least two of three more touchdowns and forced them to content themselves with a shutout victory even though it was not of imposing dimensions.

While Burgner's recruits were getting their first baptism of fire in this contest, the visitors mentored by Coach Peden, former all-Ohio material at Otterbein, were on their way to seasoned campaigners. The Darke County pigskin chasers opened their season last week with a victory but the benefit gleaned by this measure of experience was discounted after the game was under way by the quality of fighting spirit that Captain Don Currie and his mates injected into the fracas, and which kept the blue and white athletes pulling at the leash all the way.

Local fans were no disappointed in the performance of any of the lads, who represent Central High in the gridiron game this fall. The veterans of the squad lived up to the advance expectations readily, Captain Currie his brother Art Currie, "Tad" Randall, the speed merchant, Cowan at end, Bob Ballentyne, the husky tackle, Bob Yeakley at center, Horace Smith, at the other flank and "Tuffy" Fuller, at half, distinguished themselves as was their wont last year. Particularly pleasing, however, was the work of the strangers on the squad, and numbered among the brightest of these was Tom Hollencamp, whose smashing line attacks, never failed of producing the necessary yardage. Others of the newcomers who deserve mention were Horner at guard and Woolary, who sparkled at guard and half-back. Greenville's attack was centered around fullback, Tillman, whose plunging was the best exhibited for his team, while Captain McEowen played a flashy game at one flank, Minnich, calling the signals, also played well.

Statistics on the fracas show that

Xenia outplayed the visitors in every angle of the pastime. The blue and white eleven negotiated four first downs in the first half, to one made by Greenville, and four more in the second half, to one negotiated by the visitors, or a total of eight first downs to two made by Coach Peden's gridders. Burgner's athletes attempted but two passes in the first half, and completed one successfully. In the second half the locals failed in two attempts to pass, while the visitors tried six of the aerial attacks and completed but one. Both completed passes were good for 25 yds. apiece.

Captain McEowen of Greenville won the toss and chose to defend the west goal, Captain Currie of Xenia electing to receive. Reck kicked off to Xenia's 19-yard line. Hollencamp bored in for three, and Art Currie lost four. Hollencamp picked up one, and then Randall punted to Brooks on Greenville's 30. Tillman hit the line for four and then Johnny Rush was thrown for a two yard loss. Minich bored in for one and McEowen punted to Fuller, Randall picked up 14 yards around left end on the first play. Xenia was then penalized 15 yards for holding, giving the ball to Xenia on their own 15-yard line. Hollencamp picked up six off tackle, and Art Currie negotiated 8 yards around right end. A pass grounded and Randall then punted to Minnich on Greenville's 43 yard line. The visitors accepted a five-yard off side penalty and then Brooks lost three yards. Greenville was then penalized five more for another offence and Rush lost one. McEowen punted to Randall on the 30-yard line, the fleet footed half snapping off 25 yards before he was halted on the five. Hollencamp went in for two yards. The score was made 11 1-2 minutes after the game started. Art Currie missed an attempted place kick after the touch down and lost the one point that might have been gained.

Yeakley kicked off to Tillman on Greenville's 22-yard line. Brooks got three and Tillman was stopped for no gain. Rush picked up two and McEowen punted to Art Currie on Xenia's 31 yard line. Hollencamp bored in for one, and Xenia was penalized 15 yards. Randall punted to Rush. Greenville was penalized five for off side play, however and the ball was Xenia's on the 20. Hollencamp picked off seven straight in and Randall jogged around end for 10 yds and Hollencamp made it first down. Art Currie picked up four yards and Randall made it six and first down. Hollencamp got two and a pass. Art Currie to Fuller netted 25 yards. Currie then slipped around left end for nine, but Hollencamp fumbled after negotiating five yards. Minnich recovering on Greenville's 11. Tillman punted to Brooks on the 20. Brooks added three. Xenia accepting a five yard offside penalty, giving the visitors a first down. Rush added four, Minnich 3 and Brooks 2, and Tillman punted to Art Currie, who ran back 8 to Xenia's 28 yard line. Hollencamp went in for two as the half ended.

Yeakley kicked off to Brooks on Greenville's 25-yard line to start the second half, Rush added 2 and Tillman lost one. Minnich made one up and McEowen punted to Art Currie who ran back 10 to Greenville's 28 yard line. Hollencamp made four and then Art Currie slipped round left end for 20 yards to Greenville's three yard line. Randall lost eight on the next play, but made it up a minute later, when he swung through right tackle for 12 yards and a touchdown. Art Currie missed an attempt at place kick when the leather struck the uprights. The touchdown was added after seven minutes of play.

Xenia received, Reck kicking off to Fuller. Xenia's ball on the 35 yard line, Fuller went off tackle for ten and first down on the first play. Hollencamp got five, Fuller 4 and then Art Currie five for another first down. Hollencamp was stopped, but Currie got six. Art got two more, and then Randall punted into the end zone, giving the ball to Greenville on the 20.

Hollencamp was shifted to quarterback at this juncture, Art Currie going out and Woolary taking Randall's half while the latter played full-back. On the first play Batten tossed to Tillman who gained 25 yards on the pass. Minich added one and another pass grounded. Fuller intercepted the next aerial effort and it was Xenia's ball on her own 39. Randall added five and Xenia was penalized ten for having a backfield man in motion less than five yards from the scrimmage line. Randall made four, and Hollencamp was stopped, but Woolary picked up 8. Xenia was then penalized five for off-side and Randall punted to Brooks on Greenville's 34. On the first play Woolary intercepted a long pass, and it was Xenia's on the 45. A pass grounded and then Randall got two yards. Randall then punted to Brooks on Greenville's 26. A Greenville pass failed, and Woolary intercepted the next effort being downed on Greenville's 45. Gagner took Fuller's place. Xenia was penalized five for off-side play, and Hollencamp recovered nine. A pass grounded, but Hollencamp made it first down on a quarterback sneak as the game ended.

The crowd was one of the largest ever to attend a high school game here, the visitors bringing many rooters. The showing made by the blue and white squad indicates that Coach Burgner will have a real football playing aggregation. The showing the mentor has made with the green material so far, bespeaks his nights of constant effort. The lineup:

Xenia	Greenville
Smith	L. E. McEowen (c)

GRID SEASON OF 1922 GETS UNDER WAY ON SATURDAY

While a scattering of games was played last week and a few more were staged Friday, the 1922 gridiron campaign will actually get under way Saturday, when Ohio Conference teams and the majority of Ohio High Schools open their pigskin seasons.

Three Ohio Conference games are on the gridiron menu for Saturday. Akron will meet Western Reserve at Cleveland; Case will play Hiram at Hiram; and Otterbein will play Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware. Several other Conference teams will engage with teams outside of the Conference for the season's opener.

Pittsburgh journeyed to Cincinnati to meet Cincinnati U. and Denison is scheduled to meet Duquesne at Pittsburgh, while Coach Godfrey of Pittsburg took his warriors to Greenville, Pa., to play Thiel. Antioch was defeated by Kenyon 26 to 0 at Gambier Friday. Miami gets its first workout under the new coach with alumni at Oxford and Mt. Union plays recent Normal. Moskoning will play its first game as a member of the Conference with Heidelberg at New Concord. Oberlin, Ohio University and St. Xavier, another new Conference team, have no games scheduled. Ohio Northern opens with Bowling Green at Ada and Wooster, plays its first game with Ashland at Wooster.

Games in this section of interest include the contest between Cedarville College and the University of Dayton at Dayton Saturday afternoon. Four former Central High players will perform in this game. Dick Sayre, is scheduled to play guard on the Dayton team, while Walker Taylor, is manager and end of the Cedarville eleven and Larry Currie and "Yank" Stephens will be seen in the backfield. Coach "Chie" Harper of Wilmington College took his once-defeated Quaker eleven to Detroit where they engage Saturday afternoon where the University of Detroit.

Stivers High of Dayton opens its season with Columbus West at Dayton, and Steele High, defeated by Massillon last Saturday, will play Cleveland Glenview at Dayton. Wilmington High goes to Columbus for a hastily arranged game with Aquia. Sunday the American Legion team will open here with the Dayton Mascottes and the Dayton Triangles will pry off the lid at Dayton with Jim Thorpe's Corang Indians.

They are Larry Currie, who is again performing at fullback, Walker Taylor, who is back at his old position at end and "Yank" Stephens, who won his numeral at Miami and who will probably take care of a half.

Warner's athletes will inaugurate their season with the University of Dayton at Dayton, Saturday, The U. of D. has also been forced to organize practically a new team, and Coaches Van Hill and Harry Beaujan have been busy rounding out a formidable eleven. When these teams meet Saturday afternoon Cedarville will probably lineup with Taylor and Dovel at the ends; Arthur and McCoy at the tackles; Wright and Deane at the guard positions; Bowyer, center; Peters, said to be the fastest man on the team at quarterback; Collins, Markle and Stephens, at the halves and Currie full back.

Coach Earl Prugh's Antioch College football team, pried the lid off its season Friday, by losing to Kenyon College at Gambier, 26 to 0.

The score indicates that Coach Prugh, has evidently developed a better eleven than that represented the Yellow Springs school on the gridiron last fall.

Kenyon is an Ohio Conference school, and the Episcopalians have a good right in the Conference football standings each season. The game was the first of the season for Prugh's athletes, who are handicapped by the cooperative system at the Morgan school which permits but half of the boys enrolled to be in school at a time and necessitates the development of two varsity teams.

Although Captain "Bill" Riddell of this city, did not return to the school this year, Xenia is still represented on the eleven by three of her former Central High star athletes

MRS. V. W. OGLESBEE FOUND DEAD EARLY SATURDAY AT HOME

Suffering from an acute form of melancholia, and depressed because she thought her illness incurable, Mrs. Lucy May Waltz Oglesbee, 50, shot and killed herself with an old revolver at her home on Hill Street Saturday morning at 7 o'clock, just after her husband Volosh W. Oglesbee, owner of the Oglesbee Bottling and Candy factory had left for his office.

Mrs. Oglesbee had been ill for a number of weeks. Thinking her ailment incurable is thought to have brought on melancholia, which prompted her act, Saturday morning. At the time the shot was fired, Mrs. Oglesbee's two daughters May and Margaret were busy in the kitchen of their home. The revolver Mrs. Oglesbee used was an old one, members of her family having forgotten it was in the house. The bullet entered the right temple. Mrs. Oglesbee lived only a few minutes after the shot was fired.

Mrs. Oglesbee was born in Muncie, Ind., May 2, 1872, the daughter of George and Lavina Waltz. Her marriage of Volosh W. Oglesbee of this city, took place August 2, 1893. Besides her husband, two adopted daughters, Margaret and May, and one brother, Charles Waltz of Connorsville, Ind., survive. She had made her home in Xenia ever since her marriage and was a member of the First M. E. Church.

Funeral services will be held from the late home, Monday morning at ten o'clock, with interment at Woodland Cemetery.

SAY LOSS TO BANK IN ROBBERY $50,000

Cincinnati, Sept. 29.—Officials of the Hamilton county bank which was held up and robbed on Thursday by five unmasked bandits, said today that the loss was greater than at first estimated and would exceed $50,000. They denied reports that the spoils taken by the robbers amounted to as much as $100,000. The police are practically without clues in the case, the bandits having made clean get away. A reward of $7,500 has been offered for information leading to their arrest and the return of the cash and bonds stolen.

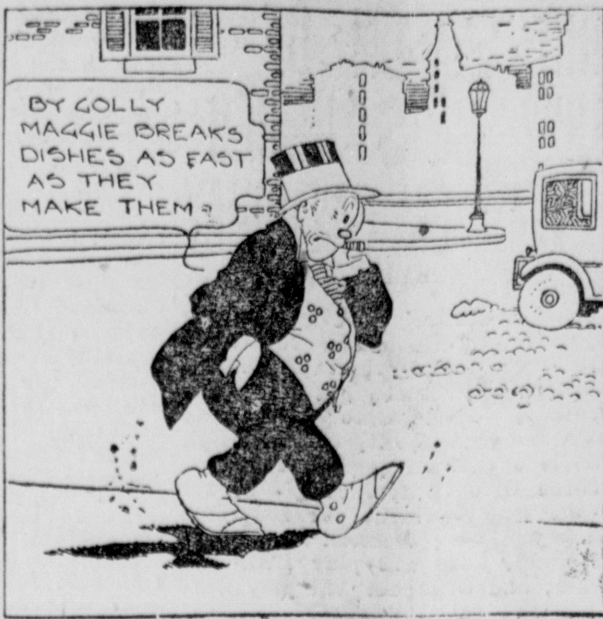

ZIMMERMAN

Mrs. Ruey Snyder, of Columbus, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. George Williamson at Shoups Station, for several weeks.

Mrs. A. L. Parker, of Cambridge, Nebraska, is spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Stewart, and family.

Miss Evelyn McCray became the bride of Crawford Coy. Saturday afternoon, September 23. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Elder Miller at his home near New Carlisle. The bride's sister, Miss Hazel McCray and Mr. Russell Moler were the attendants. The bride wore for her marriage a suit of brown with hat and satin slippers to match. A reception was given in the evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCray, at Belmont. A four course supper was served, the last course being ice cream and a beautiful wedding cake. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Coy, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coy and baby, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Newton Coy, parents of the groom; and Miss Dorothea Coy; Mrs. Ed Helmer, Mr. David Archer, Miss Osee Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCray, Miss Mary and Mr. Carl McCray. On their return from their honeymoon trip to Indian Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Coy will be at home to their many friends at the home which they have already furnished in Belmont. A host of friends join in wishing all happiness and prosperity to this excellent and popular young couple. The groom is an industrious and successful farmer and a graduate of Beaver Creek High

SIXTEEN POUNDS OF BACON FOR EIGHTY CENTS BUT THAT WAS BACK IN 1830

"Those days are gone forever!" Such would be the sigh of the present generation who daily plaint of the high cost of "household necessities," with a glimpse into the moldy, yellowed time-worn copy of a day book of a Xenia general store keeper dated 1830, ninety two years old.

Little was thought in those days by ancestors of the present citizens of Xenia of going into the general store and calmly securing a half gallon of whiskey for 18 and three fourth cents, the same customer getting with his order a pound of coffee for the same price.

The book containing the names of many familiar families in the city's history, was found by Frank McCurran, local contractor, in the attic of a house, owned by the heirs of William Rhodes on West Second street recently.

"October 1830, sundry trimmings, $1.50 and one fourth cents," is an example of the prices paid in the date of the book.

Equally interesting with the names of the purchasers and the low prices paid for some articles, are the prices that rival those paid today. For instance, the same customer that paid seventy five cents for a quart of fine sherry wine, also paid sixty cents for a pound of sugar. Balancing the high cost of some goods is the price of an article of a nominal sum, for example, sixteen pounds of bacon for eighty cents.

Robert M. Black, one of the customers of the store, was one of the early inhabitants taking advantage of the low cost of living when he bought a barrel of salt, for four dollars and a half cent. Practically all of the goods of the store were sold in quantities with a price reaching to the fraction of a cent, which was carried through the bill to the total.

Nancy Martin, probably a flapper of the 30's won the fond glances of a youthful swain with a new shawl for which she paid two dollars and twenty five cents, while Margaret White, another belle of the early days, paid five dollars for "one cloak." Katharine Gatrill, made a new gown from five and a half yards of calico for which she paid one dollar and thirty seven and a half cents, or twenty five cents a yard.

Another bill reads: "James C. Carey, to one pair gum elastic shoes, one dollar and thirty seven and a half cents."

The little general store business keeping sundry articles also dealt in loans, as shown by the item "Ebenzer Heaton, to cash loaned him $1.50," followed by a similar notation. "Calch West, to cash loaned him $20." George M. Smith is listed among the jolly good fellows who purchased a pound of nails at ten cents, a fourth of a pound of Young Hyson tea, at thirty one and a fourth cents, and a half gallon of whiskey at twelve and a half cents.

Education was not neglected in those days, and when stumped on a certain word, Hugh McMillin went to "the store" and bought a dictionary for three dollars.

James Adair laid up his private stock on time, evidenced by the note, "James Adair, to balance, whiskey per bill, $3.25."

Housewives, who are at present canning peaches, and who mourn the price of two dollars per bushel, may find an interesting item in that H. Brinkerhoff paid seventy-five cents for a bushel of the fruit.

Styles BY LENORE

Notwithstanding the earlier predictions of a return to the normal waistline, all the fashions shown this season indicate that the long waistline continues to hold the popular favor. That is, where a waistline is noted at all, but many of the gowns for evening ignore all suggestions of a waistline, except as to subtle, sinuous draperies which closely follow the natural lines of the figure.

Where a slip is worn at all, therefore, the type that is shown in Paris is shown in the sketch today. The waist is very long, the skirt extremely narrow, and straps are made adjustable, so that plain ribbon, beaded or rhinestone supports may be used, depending on the dress with which it is worn. This slip is made of white crepe de chine, with hand-stitched lace inserts.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial." — Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

NELLIE TALKS WITH MRS. ROBERTS

Nellie argued with herself, told herself that all her little social blunders, her mistakes meant nothing—as Cora had assured her. But the uneasiness would not down, and now it amounted almost to unhappiness.

A theater party at which she caused confusion by taking too long to decide where they would have supper—George had asked her to let them leave the box. One or two little crude actions at supper, had sent her home in the lowest of spirits.

As she considered her case it was not a pleasant consideration.

Because she loved George Fallon she had impulsively promised to marry him without giving consideration to facts and consequences. She wished she had made him wait longer; taken more time to fit herself to be his wife.

Perhaps in time she would have been able to learn all these little graceful ways in which she now was so lacking. She had noticed George flush as she stammered over her decision of where to dine. It had been like a whip on raw flesh. If he flushed for her now, what would he feel, when at hostess, she made blunders? If only she were like Miss Dorothy!

That started another train of thought. She had spoken of his cousin as "Miss Dorothy" to George. He had been annoyed and plainly showed it.

"Do call her Dorothy, or Miss Fallon," he said. "It is not necessary now that you use that mode of speaking to people."

Nellie was bright enough to know he referred to the difference her engagement to him made in the way she should talk to his friends; that "Miss Dorothy" smacked of servility of the office.

He had said it kindly, yet she had known he was annoyed with her.

It worried her to such an extent she spoke to Mrs. Roberts of it. She said a trifle bitterly, although she laughed:

"I guess once a slave, one never quite gets over some things. I would not have dreamed of calling her anything but "Miss Dorothy" when I was in the office; would probably be called down if I had. It seems I'll never learn to be a lady." Then: "in a horrid ungrateful girl to talk so when you and everyone are so kind."

"Don't feel that you can't talk over your worries with me, dear. Sometimes it helps. As far as that one incident goes, it is trifling; yet, of course, Mr. Fallon is right. His cousin is a little older than you are and should not be addressed as if she were a young Miss, younger than yourself. Don't feel annoyed. You are learning all the time."

"But it is so humiliating to have to learn—in such a way. To be corrected by him, I wouldn't care if it was you—but to have him seem ashamed, it is almost more than I can bear."

"Poor child," Mrs. Roberts soliloquized when alone. "She will make them both unhappy if she isn't careful. I am afraid for her. I wish she had more confidence in herself. It is meeting those society women, women of the world, that has made her lose that confidence. She is constantly comparing herself to them without making any allowances for herself—without considering her bringing up."

Nellie had lost some of her bright color in these last weeks, and her face held a certain tension, which indicated nervous strain and apprehension. Donald Horne had noticed and had sought Mrs. Roberts where she was alone.

"Nellie isn't happy, Mrs. Roberts," he said. "Why?"

"I think you are wrong, Donald. The child isn't unhappy. She is worrying a bit for fear she will not measure up to standard in her new life. She is rather frightened because of

USED BY THREE GENERATIONS

"I use Foley's Honey and Tar personally, give it to all my children and now to my grandchildren with the same good results. I tried many kinds of cough medicines, but never want anything but Foley's Honey and Tar," writes Mrs. E. K. Olson, Superior, Wis. Foley's Honey and Tar was established in 1875 and has stood the test of time serving three generations. It quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup, throat, chest and bronchial trouble. Mr. Fallon's social position, a bit afraid of his friends," he answered. "One has fancies, how it is—we can't always be quite sensible."

"I know, Donald. But we must put fancies out of our heads now." Mrs. Roberts knew the young fellow loved Nellie, knew that was what he meant by his stammering speech. "We must do all we can to make her happy for the few days she remains with us."

"I'd give my life to make her happy always!" he blurted out, then rushed from the room before she could answer.

"I wonder—" she whispered.
